Chef Flynn prepares little powdered donuts ... the breakfast of champions ... for his partners in crime, Joe List and Ryan Scott, and himself.

The calm before the storm. The Panther Superfans await the arrival of the W-H Student Body and Faculty.

Above: The day: September 29, 1999. The time: 6:29 a.m. The place: Whitman-Hanson Regional High School. The occasion: The day of the football home opener. Three highly spirited seniors - Joe List, Ryan Scott, Nicholas Flynn - gather for the 1st annual Spirit Day for an "Island Party". Spirit Day was created so the Whitman-Hanson student body could show off their Panther Pride. Joe List comments, "They told us to paint our faces and show our school spirit as best as we could. The night before, we decided it would be a good idea to get everyone in the spirited mood by getting to school bright and early before the student body and even faculty. We greeted everyone with music and dancing. Everyone had a great time, but the spirit didn't end there. The party lasted all day into the night, as the W-H Football Team defeated North Quincy 26-0. Everyone was proud to be a Panther on that day."

WHITMAN-HANSON REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

Below: Some senior boys gather around a clock. It just so happens the clock struck 12:00. Aren't we happy it's a new millennium!

Left: A group of wild teens and one shy guy prepare for the Y2K ball to drop.

Above: One of W-H's more flashy seniors, Joe List, reenacts how he spent his New Year's Eve. Apparently, he dressed up really special and danced the night away.

Right: Believe it or not, it is the year 2000. This group seems to enthusiastically believe it.

once in a lifetime ...

Four years ago we could barely tie our shoes, and now we are on the verge of paying rent and going to college on our own. The years have flown by, and our progressive maturity as a class has been subtle, yet substantial. We no longer find ourselves at the bottom of the school's hierarchy, but we also realize that next year we will be at the bottom of another. Indeed, we've come a long way since ninth grade.

There lie new possibilities on the horizon for the Class of 2000, and with these new possibilities also comes the reality that we will no longer have friends and family to look out for us. The freedom that the future will bring will either come as a great release or a rude awakening to each high school senior.

The self-motivated individuals will inevitably branch off and form lives of their own in the following years. Some of us have already gone our separate ways, which is sad, but so it goes. Somewhere down the line we will see each other in grocery markets or car dealerships and reminisce about high school and its peculiarities. The things we once thought to be vital to everyday life - who has the biggest system in their car, who said what about someone else, what someone's wearing to the prom - will seem dated and laughable. The only thing that will matter is what people have made of themselves and what positive impacts people have made in all the walks of life.

When the Class of 2000 looks back at this point in time, a time when we were all on the verge of adulthood, we should feel proud that we represented an entire generation as we graduated on the footsteps of a new millennium. Our role as a class is not to be perfect, or even better than any class for that matter. Our role is to find the extraordinary in the ordinary and to never take the small things in our lives for granted. Of all the true things in life, there is only one that fits each and every W-H senior; the only real success is to spend life doing what you love, so go do it already!

TIME WAS OF THE ESSENCE ... Nick Konarski's Fossil watch at 8:32 and 28 seconds in the morning. Time was of the essence this school year. At 11:59 and 59 seconds on December 31, 1999, no one knew what to expect, but everything went flawlessly as we rang in the New Year.

Fashion surrounds us in everything we do. Even people who say that they don't care what they wear choose clothes every morning that say alot about them and how they feel that day. One certain element of the fashion world is change. We are constantly being bombarded with new fashion ideas from music, videos, books, television, and movies. For example, Ray-Ban sold more sunglasses after the movie "Men in Black" than ever before. In addition, sometimes a trend can be worldwide. Back in the 1950's, teenagers everywhere dressed like Elvis Presley. Let's just hope Marilyn Manson doesn't have the same impact !

The bookworm, Tara Forrester, takes time to show off her unique style of clothing coordination.

Charlie "Spike Lee" Higgins' side-view of his ever-changing hairstyles. No people or animals were hurt while creating this hairstyle.

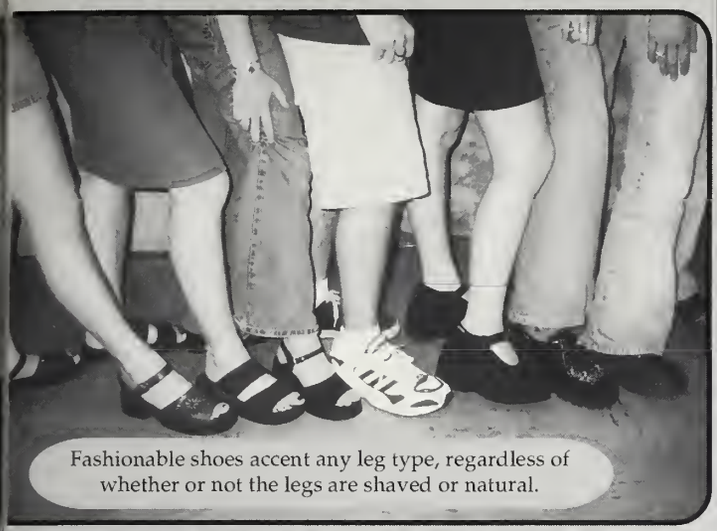
Elisabeth MacDonald's clothing and hairstyles have changed over the past few years. Biffy says she has no intention of ever staying the same.



Fashionable shoes accent any leg type, regardless of whether or not the legs are shaved or natural.

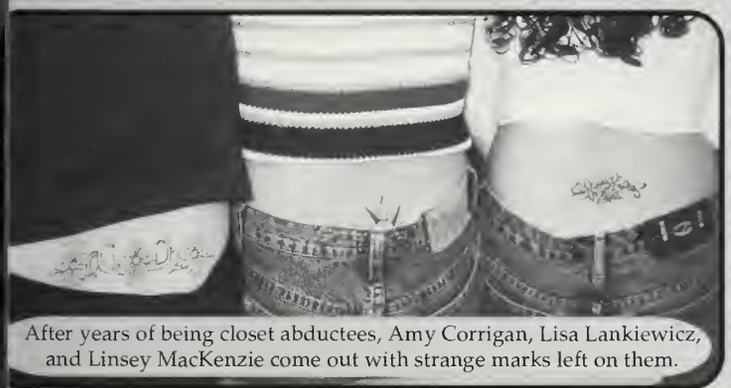
Charlie Higgins exemplifies his leopard-skin shoes which were given to him by Glenda, the witch of the north. There's no place like home Charlie;There's no place like home!

Super Senior Katie Sances looks down and gives a perfect view of her headband of irridescent sequins.

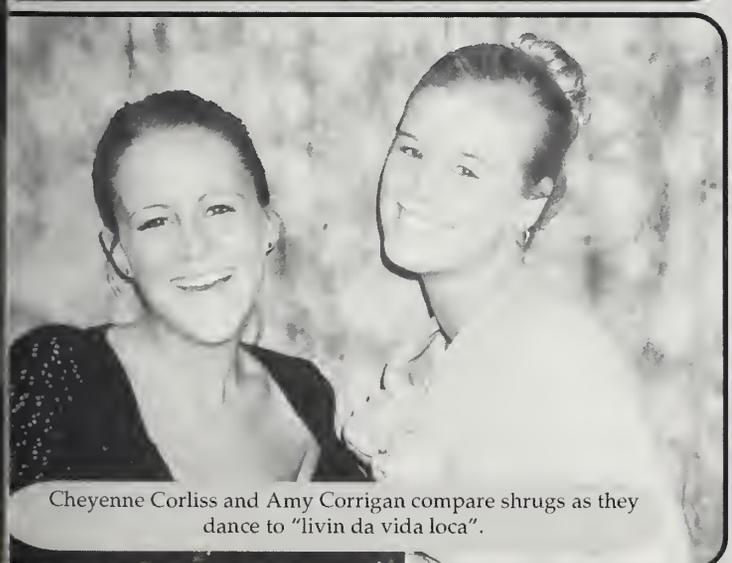
After a change of clothes, Katie strategically places shiny stars in her hair to form the Power Triangle. The triangle is said to bring good fortune to its beholder.



After years of being closet abductees, Amy Corrigan, Lisa Lankiewicz, and Linsey MacKenzie come out with strange marks left on them.

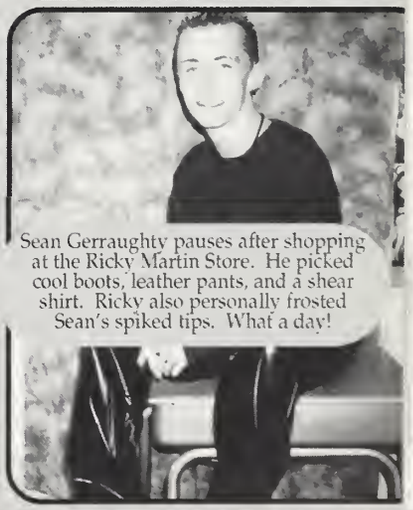
In the spirit of J. Edgar Hoover, Class President Scott Wisdom gets in touch with his feminine side.

Mom wasn't home this morning to tie Jeff "ladies man" Andrews' tie. He is also severely color blind and lacks discretion.



Cheyenne Corliss and Amy Corrigan compare shrugs as they dance to "livin da vida loca".

In his head, Sean Gerraughty sings "somewhere over the rainbow" while he wears his polyester/ spandex shirt and velvet jacket.



Sean Gerraughty pauses after shopping at the Ricky Martin Store. He picked cool boots, leather pants, and a shear shirt. Ricky also personally frosted Sean's spiked tips. What a day!

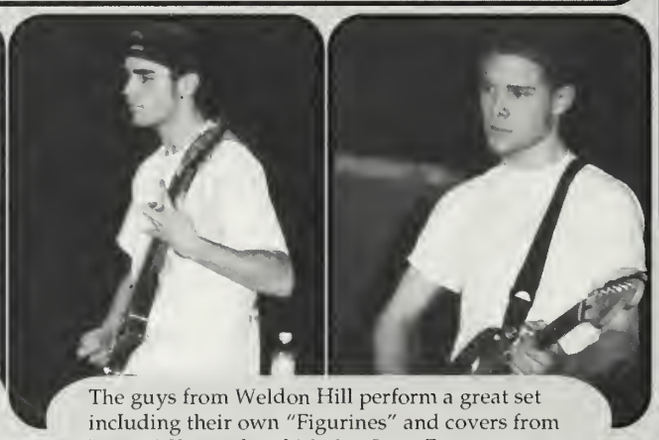
Jenni Brooks performs her song "What It's For," while Joyce Ellis is far from miserable singing "Les Miserables."

Talented guitarist/pianist Marcus Hanscom performs a solo on the piano, "Nothing Else Matters" by Metallica.



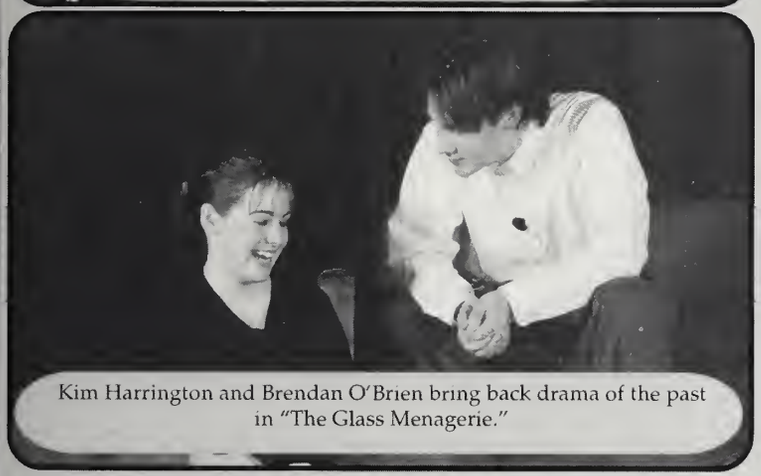
The guys from Weldon Hill perform a great set including their own "Figurines" and covers from Lynyrd Skynyrd and Mother Love Bone.

Kristi Zamagni performs a lyrical ballet for "This Woman's Work," and Erin Ross sings "You Must Love Me."

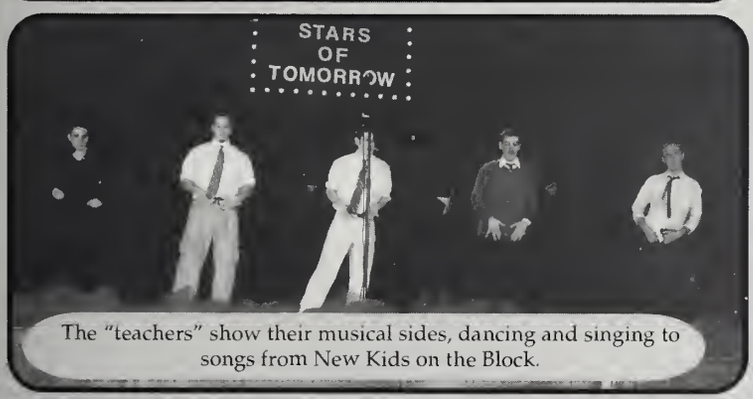
Jarod Maggio, John Connolly, Greg MacPhelemy, James Doyle, and Sean Gerraughty charm the girls as they do their best impersonations of the Backstreet Boys.

Rob Knight and Roderick Clark rap freestyle to the crazed dancing of Peter Goodick.

Crystal Petrillo and Jon Richter perform a soothing rendition of "Wind Beneath My Wings."

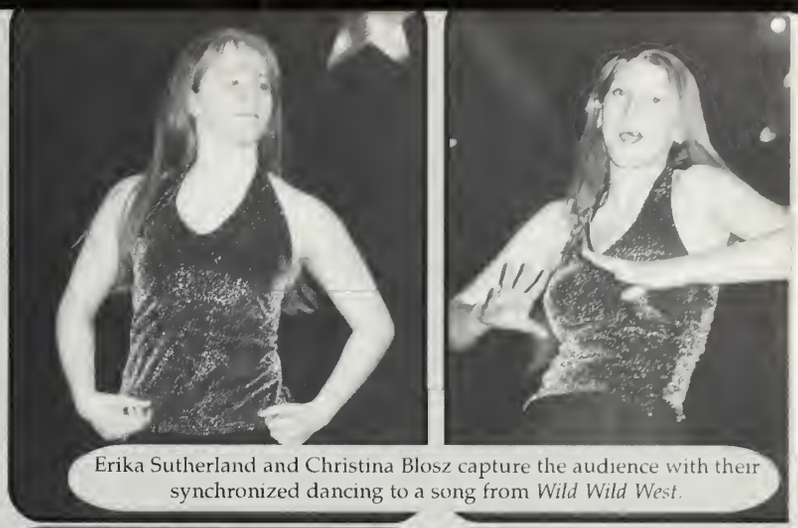


Kim Harrington and Brendan O'Brien bring back drama of the past in "The Glass Menagerie."



The "teachers" show their musical sides, dancing and singing to songs from New Kids on the Block.

Erika Sutherland, Melissa Mandeville, and Christina Blosz swing to the tune of "Zoot Suit Riot."



Erika Sutherland and Christina Blosz capture the audience with their synchronized dancing to a song from Wild Wild West.

a tribute to a retiring teacher ...

"In September of 1966 I met 'Mr.Cole.' It was the beginning of a relationship that began as a teacher and a student. In all of the years, he has never stopped being my teacher, mentor, and friend. His patience and support have been a great blessing. In my life, I have met very few people with such a dedication to his students and sincerity of purpose. I thank Bob for the generous sharing of his time and talents with so many. Personally, Bob has been among the kindest and most compassionate of friends during my greatest personal and professional challenges. I owe him much and can honestly state that any triumphs I have acheived as an educator are ones which he deserves to share. There is no single person whose example has had a greater impact upon my professional development. He is my brother, born not of blood, but rather of circumstance. His likes will never again grace our classrooms. As my teacher and mentor, I will always respect him. As one of my dearest friends, I will always love him."

Teachers ...

lives out of school ...

the millennium ...

Written by Allison Kiely and Janine Pare

Contrary to popular belief, the teachers at Whitman-Hanson do have lives out of school. Mrs. Strauss is always up for a riveting game of Bingo. Mr. Chaskes likes putting on gear from the 18th century and acting out battles from the Revolutionaly War. Mrs. Kaval enjoys going down to the range to practice her target shooting, while Mr. Thrasher just likes to sit back and "listen to the wisdom of Mr. Cole". With exciting hobbies like these, the faculty must have some pretty crazy predictions and plans for the coming millennium.

Mr. Thrasher is predicting the millennium will be followed by - hold on to your seats for this one - the year 2001. The pessimist in Mr. Bonaparte predicts the complete breakdown of the world's economic system. Hide your money under the mattress! Ms. lampietro thinks that the pineapple Lifesaver will become extinct. Mr. Valla believes that humans will make contact with aliens, hopefully the mother race of the Science Department. Mr. Amado is predicting the birth of his first baby boy. He also predicts that the Red Sox will win the World Series in the next millennium. Keep dreaming, Mr. Amado. Mrs. Campbell has just one simple wish for the next millennium - to grow to 5'2"; however, she's making no predictions.

The faculty members have a wide variety of plans for New Year's Eve. Mr. Bancroft is trying to get out of a wedding he was invited to that night. Let's hope that the happy couple doesn't find out. Mrs. Diogenes doesn't have any definite plans, just that she's going to avoid airplanes and elevators. The ever so exciting Mr. Bonaparte plans to sleep through the new millennium. Mr. Valla pointed out that since the new millennium doesn't really begin until 2001, he won't be celebrating until then. Well, every party has a pooper, but somebody had to point out that minor technicality. A surprising number of teachers had no official plans for the New Year. However, a little bird in the Science Department (ahem, Mr. Moriarty) mentioned something about a crazy shindig at Mr. Cole's. Somebody wake up Mr. Bonaparte!

"Mr. Horkey has made countless contributions in his many years of service to the W-H community. I wish him a long and healthy retirement." ~ Mr. Robert Gay, W-H Principal Below: Mr. Horkey was playing Hide and Go Seek with a student of his a few years back...but he forgot to seek.

After thirty-six years of teaching, including twenty-five years of perfect attendance, Mr. Albert Horkey is retiring from Whitman-Hanson. He spent his first two years teaching General Science at Silver Lake High School before coming to Whitman-Hanson. Mr. Horkey has taught Biology I and II and Anatomy and Physiology at WH, and has served as a Student Council Advisor, tennis coach, and Driver Education Instructor for many years. Mr. Horkey's main priority during his career has been to set a good example for all students.

When asked if he has enjoyed teaching science for so many years, Mr. Horkey replied, "Yes, definitely. I've had so many good students." He says the most rewarding element of teaching is, "When I see that a former student of mine has become successful." With a smile, Mr. Horkey commented that, in fact, some of his past students, including Mr. Rozen, Mr. Stephansky, Mrs. Lozzie, and Dr. Lauricella, are now teachers at Whitman-Hanson. "As my friend and colleague, teacher and landlord, Mr. Horkey has had a tremendous influence on my life," Mr. Stephansky is quick to note. He adds that Mr. Horkey's sound advice helped him through high school, and now his sound plumbing helps him "through more than a few clouds and 'This Old House' problems. Thank you Al!"

Mr. Horkey's decision to retire has come at a time of change, now that MCAS and block scheduling have become prominent new features in the school system. The change has come as an affirmation for Mr. Horkey, and he now feels that it is time to bow out while he's still at the top of his game. He will, however, continue to cause havoc in the plumbing business. "I will plumb til' I die," he states with pride. "My dream is to become the number one hopper-popper!" Godspeed, Mr. Horkey.

Teachers ...

craziest/zaniest/most dangerous lives out of school

hiking, parasailing, enjoying mother's cooking

Once in a Lifetime:
This is a real picture! Mr. Matthew Delaney shook hands with President Bill Clinton at a White House dinner honoring teachers with National Certification.

Written by Allison Kiely and Janine Pare

When asked what the craziest/zaniest/most dangerous/most interesting experience they've ever had, the teachers had some pretty zany/crazy/interesting stories to tell. Of course, there were lots of responses about going bungee jumping {and the regrets that people felt- while jumping}, but there were also many experiences that could certainly be dubbed "Once In A Lifetime."

Mr. Delaney couldn't stay in the U.S. to ski - he had to go to Mt. Blanc in France. Although it took six hours to reach the bottom, Mr. Delaney didn't get tired of skiing, because he also skied through sixteen feet of snow on a mountain in Austria. That's not the scariest part - while resting up in his hotel, he saw an avalanche across the street!

That rebel English teacher, Ms. Iampietro, recalls the time when she and her friends snuck into an amusement park - after hours - to go on the rides. However, their guilty consciences must have caught up with them because they began to think that the police were chasing them. Suffice to say, they skedaddled! Still, Ms. Iampietro isn't the only teacher who likes to live dangerously. Mrs. Kaval once rode around Newfoundland, Canada - on a child-size moped.

And, of course, there are those teachers who find their most exciting experiences right in the workplace. Mr. Twohig says that teaching is the most interesting experience he's ever had. Mr. Bonaparte claims that working in the science department at Whitman-Hanson is the craziest/zaniest experience he's ever had. In all honesty though, it must be a little dangerous working with the likes of Mr. Horkey and Mr. Thrasher.

Ms. Gould has also had some interesting experiences at W-H, not as a teacher, but as a student. When she was a senior, Ms. Gould went to Ireland as a player on Mr. Daley's basketball team. "That means Mr. Daley is really old!" she says. {Like we didn't know that already.}

Clearly, the teachers at W-H have done some really exhilarating things during their {long, long, long} time. However, most didn't list any really dangerous things {unless we count bungee jumping and skiing over twelve-foot deep crevices!} Therefore , Mr. Valla tops the list with the all-time most dangerous thing a teacher has done at W-H. As he says, "Eating my mother's cooking for twenty years was the most dangerous experience so far." Thankfully, he doesn't have the pictures to prove it!

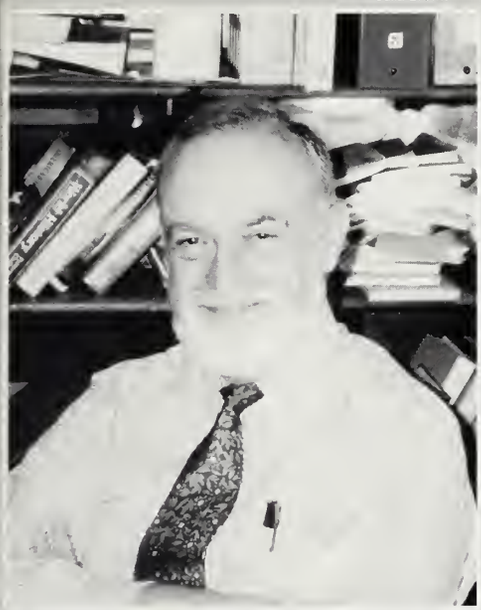
"Mr. Robert Cole is an irreplaceable gem in the Social Studies Department. ... His kind personality and good humor have been the foundation of a strong sense of community among the members of the department."
Julia Brown



In high school, Robert Cole did not know what he wanted to do with his life. He was a self-proclaimed "buffalo head", who would rather spend time reading historical novels than writing papers or doing obscure math problems. He broke his father's heart by going into the service after graduation, but matured there and learned an important thing about himself: he desired a vocation, not simply a job. "Some really good people helped me focus, and then I knew I wanted to be a teacher." After the service, he attended Boston College, the University of Maryland, and Bridgewater State College, where he received his Masters Degree in Education. He arrived at W-H in 1966, freshly married and right out of school.

In the following years he would go on to teach American History classes, European History classes, and Historical Research classes. His hard work paid off, and he was eventually named head of the Social Studies Department. In Mr. Cole's opinion, the Whitman-Hanson School System is in better shape than ever. "If you have teachers who are bright, capable, and who like being there, that's communicated every day in the classroom." When speaking on the subject of future teachers and teaching in general, Mr. Cole is quick to point out that "this is a job you can't do in second gear."

If you're looking for Mr. Cole in the future, you may be hard pressed to find him. If he's not home, he's probably reading a book and listening to classical music while lounging on the shore of the Thames River in England (if he had it his way!). No matter where he is or what he is doing, there is only one constant for our wily Mr. Cole: he'll never be caught in second gear.

The Class of 2000 proudly celebrates its senior year with fond memories and tremendous excitement of being the graduating class of the new millennium. We are looking back upon our "Once in a Lifetime" memories and looking forward to many more to come. There were semi-formals and proms, sports and activities, and last of all finals and lots of homework! Leaving our careers at Whitman-Hanson as students, we are starting over in a new world ... a world full of opportunities in which we have to be ready to face new challenges and be capable of conquering anything that comes before us. We will remember our "Once in a Lifetime" memories not only as our own personal experiences, but also as the experiences of the class members with each other. The class participated in many great activities together, such as sophomore year lock-in, class trips, banquets, graduation, and even selling towels. Whitman-Hanson was a great place for us to share our learning experiences with our best friends, teachers, and underclassmen.

" The days may come, the days may go, But still the hands of memory weave, The blissful dreams of long ago"
- George Cooper

After three years of waiting and months of preparation, the much anticipated Junior Prom finally arrived. On May 21, 1999, the Class of 2000 gathered together at Lantana's and made all of its fairy tale dreams come true. The spectacular moonlit sky throughout the evening was a gift that provided the perfect ambiance for an incredible evening. As the limos drove up and the red carpets rolled out, the doors were opened for the party goers. The girls in their gowns and the guys in their tuxes all joined under the lights for a memorable evening of dancing and celebration. The memories made and the times shared at the Junior Prom will be ones that will always be cherished. The smiling faces, glittering centerpieces, and red and black balloons were truly a sight to see. The Class of 2000 will always look back on its prom night and remember it was one of the best memories of its high school years. It was definitely a night to remember, a kind of night that could only happen "Once in a Lifetime."

Kristen McQuarrie, Barbara Wojcik, Brynn Tierney, Angela Diprimio and Tara Forrester enjoyed clowning around this summer.

The summer before senior year is a very important one. It's the last time the incoming seniors can kick back, relax, and hang out with friends before the stresses of papers and college applications begin. For students here at Whitman-Hanson, the beach is a popular destination. It wouldn't be an unusual occurrance to go to Berk's or Nantasket Beach and see a group of students from Whitman-Hanson during the day. At night, there are usually different groups of friends hanging out at various houses. The soon to be seniors realize how important it is to spend time with close friends over the summer before senior year. The next summer will be filled with tears and good-byes, as groups of friends start splitting up for college. As these pictures show, the Class of 2000 made the most of its last summer as high school students. The summer of 1999 was truly a "Once in a Lifetime" experience.

"Summer means being tan, drinking lemonade and hanging out at the beach with your friends." Senior, Antonia Trigler.

Summer...

our once in a lifetime

Daniel McKinley is proud of friends, Jarod Maggio and Christopher Gay, who were named two of the five most spirited seniors.

The first ever Spirit Day was held at Whitman-Hanson on September 24, 1999. Students sported their school colors of red and black, as the day was organized to help support the variety of school teams at the start of the fall season. Many students showed their spirit by painting themselves and also decorating their cars in W-H's school colors of red and black. Eleven students, including four seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, two freshmen, and the student with the best decorated car were chosen as the most spirited, and President of the Junior Class, Scott Wisdom, presented the winners with awards. Pictures were taken to capture the moments that made Spirit Day a huge success. After the school day ended, the spirit carried on into the night, as a number of students gathered at the first home football game to cheer on their school team. Hopefully, Spirit Day will not be a "Once in a lifetime" experience, and it will become an annual tradition at Whitman-Hanson.

David Gardner, W-H Senior, absolutely represents the true Whitman-Hanson spirit with his elaborately decorated face.

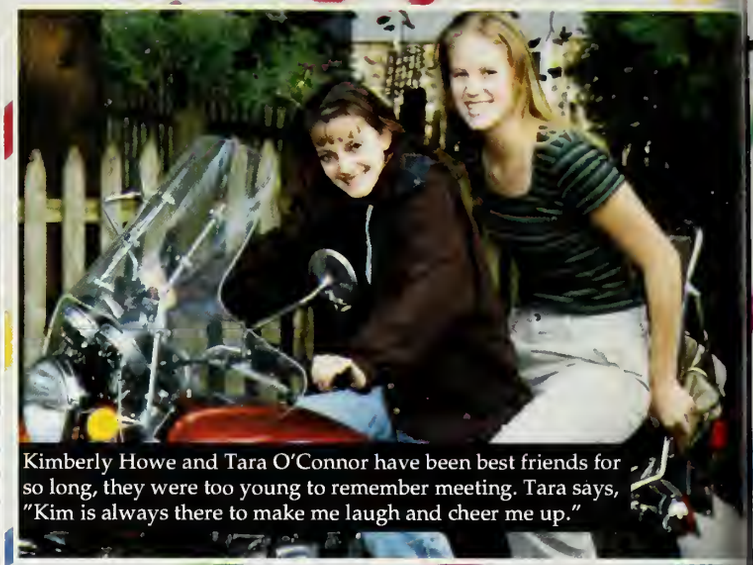
Toni Donati and Jeanne Lotti have been the best of friends since freshman year. Jeanne says of Toni, "I can't imagine what my four years of high school would've been like if I didn't have Toni's support and faith in me." Toni says, "Even though high school is nearly over, our memories will keep our friendship forever in the present. I'm so proud of you Jeanne. Good Luck!"



Kimberly Howe and Tara O'Connor have been best friends for so long, they were too young to remember meeting. Tara says, "Kim is always there to make me laugh and cheer me up."

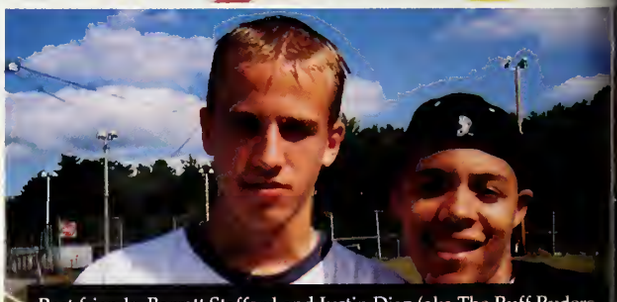
Meghan Gilmore and Linsey MacKenzie have been best friends since they started cheerleading in the fourth grade. Ever since then, they have been together whether it just is hanging out or going to the prom. They know how to have a good time together and will always be there for each other whenever one needs a shoulder.

Sheena Lake and Bonnie Harriman have been best friends since seventh grade. They know when they need a friend they can turn to each other. They can also look forward to the good times ahead.

Gregory MacPhelemy and Jacob Dugas have been friends since sophomore year. They always have fun whether they are at a party, or just lounging around with a case of "Dr. Thunder".

Angela DiPrimio, Kristi Newcomb, and Brynn Tierney have been great friends since freshman year. They have been through thick and thin and will always be there for each other no matter what.

Heather Marcos and Allison Counter have been best friends for six years. Heather says, "Allie knows me better than anyone else. She's always been there for me when I needed her, and she's the only one I know who is as crazy as I am."



Best friends, Barrett Stafford and Justin Diaz (aka The Ruff Ryders brothers) say that they will remain "Best Dogs Forever".

our once in a lifetime best friends ...

This studly threesome, James Maloney, Steven Holbrook, and Nicholas Altieri, go way back to middle school. Nicholas says, "Thanks guys for the great memories."

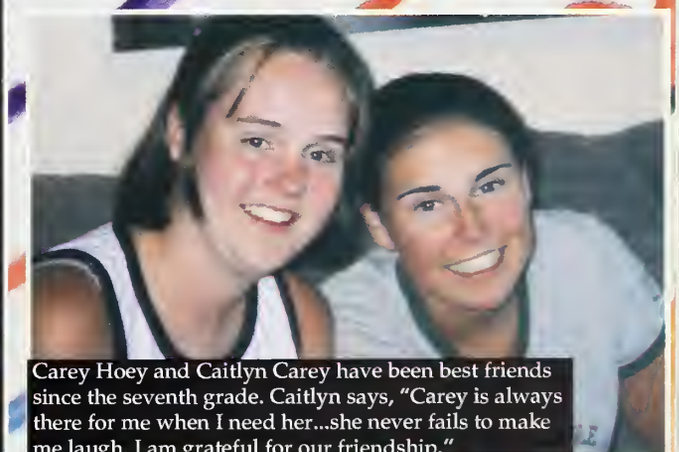
"Without our best friends, we would not be the people we are today."

Toni Donati, Kristi Newcomb,Brynn Tierney

Antonia Trigler and Laura Doyle became friends on Shadowing Day, Sophomore Year. Antonia says, "We happened to sit next to each other on the bus and couldn't stop talking. We haven't stopped yet. Our phones are always ringing, so we can ask each other for advice. We have tons of fun when we hang out, and we can never stop laughing!"

Best friends experience a lifetime of sharing. They share a special bond that is almost impossible to break. This bond is something that is treasured throughout high school years. During high school, a student experiences many situations and decisions ... whether they be happy, sad, difficult, quiet, or exciting. It helps to have a person to rely on and to trust in order to share the emotions these times evoke. To be true friends requires sincere interest and concern for each other. All of the people on these pages will stick together through the years after high school. They will continue to be there for each other through the good and bad. Whatever their hardships or successes, they will be best friends forever, because true best friends come around "Once in a Lifetime."

Amy DeCoste, Laura Schmit, Katie Sances, and Michelle Umano, friends all through high school, will never forget the great memories they have shared over the years.



Carey Hoey and Caitlyn Carey have been best friends since the seventh grade. Caitlyn says, "Carey is always there for me when I need her...she never fails to make me laugh. I am grateful for our friendship."

once in a lifetime our now & then ...

Barrett Stafford and Michael Savage move from the graduation halls of preschool to the halls of Whitman-Hanson.

"And in today already walks tomorrow."- Samual Taylor Coleridge.

As we have moved from that first nervous walk into school to the proud strut of the graduating senior, a great deal has changed. One element that has remained the same is our friendships. From our first friend who let us sit next to him on the bus to the friend who let us cry on his shoulder after our first big breakup, our friends have pulled us through. Throughout the years, our friends have come and gone, our hair styles have changed, and our dreams are now realities. Maturity has taken our childhood innocence. As we go through each day and the years pass away, we watch parts of our childhood slip away. As we turn to graduate, we must stop and look back to that fateful day when our parents sent us on our way.

From the first day of kindergarten until the last day of high school, Andrea Connolly and Laura Gainey prove that true friendship can survive through the changes of growing up.

Jessica Rust and Jillian Iverson have gone from school girls to glamour queens.

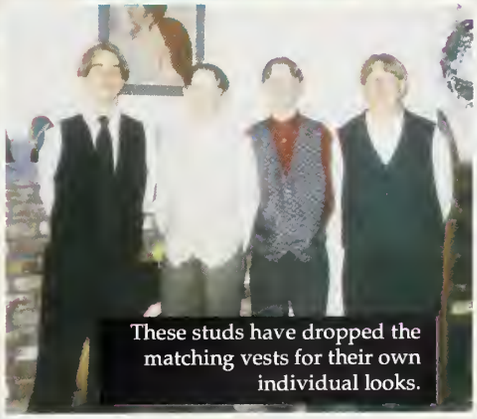
After all these years, Laura Schmit and Michelle Umano are still "Dancing Queens."

Andrea Scalata and Alicia D'Amato have gone from playing in the sand dunes of Martha's Vineyard to the sandpits of W-H.

leghan Gilmore and Linsey MacKenzie have both grown up but stayed gether as friends.

These girls show that they're happy how they've changed since the 7th grade whale watch.

Tara O'Connor and Kim Howe's ideas of "dressing up" have changed little over the years.



These studs have dropped the matching vests for their own individual looks.

This year is one that will never be forgotten. After all, the Class of 2000 is about to be the first graduating class of the new millennium. The seniors will always remember their friends and certainly the special classmates who are voted senior superlatives. Each year, the superlatives are voted on by members of the Senior Class. The superlatives identify the star qualities and unique personalities of different seniors. Each category proves that everyone is unique in his own special way. Mr. and Ms. Whitman-Hanson are the two seniors who have had the most school spirit throughout their four years at Whitman-Hanson and who have done the most to support their school throughout all its endeavors. This is the first year that each winner could receive only one award, with the exception of Mr. and Ms. Whitman -Hanson. Each year the categories change slightly, depending on the makeup of the senior class itself. However, even though only a certain number of awards are voted on, every senior at Whitman-Hanson has his own unique personality and his own special talent. These unique personalities and special talents will create "Once in a Lifetime" experiences for each and every senior of the Class of 2000.

Do the freaks really come out at night? They do at Whitman-Hanson! Some of our Nite Life memories are wacky, some are tacky, and some are just downright spunky! The pictures on these pages reflect some of the wackiest nights we've had over the years. When asked to look back on the nights that characterized the high school "daze" of Nick Altieri and Scott Wisdom, they reluctantly revealed that their late night parties have always been 'N Sync with the school's underground rave scene. Sean Gerraughty cited his late night bonding sessions with his band Weldon Hill as the defining moments of his Nite Life. Some of us chill, some of us party down, but one thing is always the same with Whitman-Hanson seniors: "We love the night life, we love to boogie on the Disco Ride!..."

Working is a responsibility all teenagers must handle, whether it is to save up for a new car or to have some extra spending money. Having a job opens new doors of opportunity for teenagers and introduces a new grasp of reality and life after high school. With this new found independence comes new responsibility. A teenager must set personal priorities to balance his job, maintain his friendships, and still pass his classes. The jobs of teenagers will vary from waiting tables, to bagging groceries, to cleaning bathrooms. A job, at this age, may not be an ideal job, but regardless, it's a start for the long road to future success.

sparkly faces ... outrageous hair ... fake eyelashes ... magic wands ... fairy princesses ... construction workers ... creative costumes ... exuberant enthusiasm ... Halloween at Whitman-Hanson!!

Halloween is a time to be creative and have fun. Halloween is a time to go back to childhood ... to express one's inner child and have it show through to one's outer self. Students at Whitman-Hanson especially presented this theme on October 29th. Many students put together costumes of the past, including cave girls, Darth Maul, and the ghost from Scream. Students also put together costumes of the future such as aliens and millennium girls. Of course, there were the classic ghosts and goblins parading the halls at W-H. No matter the costume, whether it was a painted face or mask, hundreds of students and many teachers participated in this exciting and thrilling event. W-H is a school with spirit and pizzaz. Traditionally, this day of celebration has added great excitement to memories of high school. Students rose to the occasion expressing great enthusiasm for the last Halloween of the 20th century. This year's Halloween truly was a"Once In A Lifetime" event.

Each and every senior at Whitman-Hanson will look back on his or her high school days with fond recollection. Each person is aware of the importance and significance of the Class of 2000 and the amazing number of positive contributions that members have made over the past years. Memories of friends, vacations, weekends, banquets, dances, and even basic training send the seniors into moods of sentimentality and appreciation for fellow classmates. No other class in the last thousand years has recieved the same attention and recognition that the Class of 2000 will recieve, and no class for the next thousand years will even come close. Whitman-Hanson seniors are worthy of this honor, and they celebrate their milestones on these pages. Never will there be a class quite so unique again, so "Carpe Diem" Class of Y2K.

David Whalen Scores a 790 on the Math SAT Exam

David Whalen is a super math student ... one whom others may be envious of ... especially due to his 790 score on his Math SAT Exam. David, a believer of "Whatever happens, happens!" has experienced Honors Algebra II, Honors Geometry, Honors Trigonometry, and AP Calculus here at Whitman-Hanson.

With a future possibly in the field of medicine or computer science, David has applied to several colleges including BC, Brandeis, UMass Amherst, StonehilI, and Wheaton. Not quite sure what field he will pursue, he has applied as an "undecided" major. David says his interest in medicine may be due to the fact that the last six generations on his mother's side were doctors in Japan.

David's after school hours are spent working ... right now at the GAP at the South Shore Plaza. He has also picked vegetables at Lipinski's Farm and cooked at Sophie's. Although an only child, David says he is definitely not spoiled ... His greatest hero is Emilio Estevez, a great actor ... He enjoys playing the guitar and last year won the top student award in advanced guitar.

A Patriot Fan, of course, David says going to Super Bowl would be just a lot of trouble ... he would rather watch the game on TV and be comfortable. "This year's game ... a great last quarter," he says.

When asked if he had a good feeling when he left his SAT Exams, David modestly replied, "Yep! I thought I aced the test!"

Senior, Jarod Maggio, had a "once in a lifetime" moment, when he won the grand prize for "A Day in our Life" Photography Contest sponsored by the Brockton Enterprise. Jarod's winning picture was of Justin Lyons jumping into the air, in front of the Whitman-Hanson sign which adorns the football field. The Enterprise received about 600 entries, and chose Jared's as the winner for the youth division. Even though Jared has a definite interest in his photography skills, his goal is to become a secret service agent.

Erin Devine, Andrea Connolly, and Laura Gainey traveled to Madrid, Spain in the Spring of 1999 as part of a student exchange program run by Project Contemporary Competitiveness (PCC). They lived with three Spanish students who had been to W-H in the fall. While in Spain, the W-H girls visited the local schools, toured around the city of Madrid, and in general experienced the Spanish culture. The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Cheryl Daily who stayed with a Spanish teacher who had been here in the fall. Erika King and Krystan Gogan participated in the French program which is a two year program in which one year the students go to Paris and the second year the students live in the country. The experience, according to Erin, Andrea, and Laura was "... an opportunity that anyone should do if possible because it's a once in a lifetime experience."

Scott Wisdom has a way with words. His every turn of a phrase and penned expression earns him award after award.

Scott has won first place in the Fleet Naval Reserve Essay Contest, first place in the VFW essay contest at the local level, second place in the VFW essay contest at the regional level, second place in the Spellman Essay Contest last year, and first place in the state in a fiction contest. In addition, Scott, competing for a place at the Breadloaf Writers' Conference in Vermont, won a space and was able to study writing last summer with published authors. He also submitted a play for consideration to the Boston's First Night competition.

Scott, President of the W-H Class of 2000, worked first semester on the W-H millennium yearbook and wrote numerous articles and the millennium message.

Scott is looking forward to college, where he will probably major in some aspect of English, such as communications, journalism, or perhaps even straight English studies. He has applied to several colleges and will await acceptances and offers before he makes a final decision.

His passions? The list includes sports, especially hockey, since Scott has been on the hockey team for four years, and the team is having a big come back this year. The team has worked hard to gain a 12-4-4 record. Other passions? The list goes on ... but certainly baseball should be included ... and of course ... Scott's girlfriend.

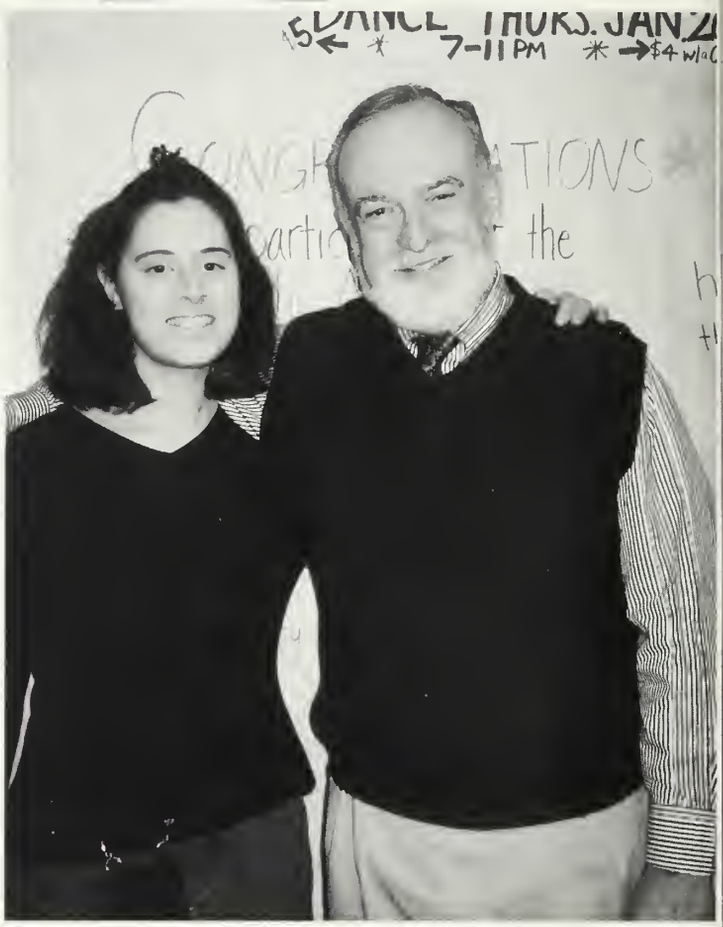
Carrie Greene Wins 1st Place In Framingham Essay Contest



Junior Carrie Greene and Mr. Robert Cole, Social Studies Dept. Chairman

Carrie Greene recently won the coveted 1st place in the Framingham Phi Alpha History Essay Contest. Hundreds of students from New England participated in the contest. Carrie's 49 page paper was entitled The Korean War: Can There Be Peace? Her paper focused on the 1990's and the future of Korea. Carrie says she worked every day right up until the paper was due. In fact, she says she stayed up until 3 a.m. the night before the paper was due, just checking and reading the paper over. Carrie used 117 sources, and her paper had 256 footnotes. Interestingly, Carrie says she actually considers herself more science/math oriented! (Don't we all wish we could be math oriented and still win the Framingham!). Carrie is obviously a great student and she hopes to stay local for college, maybe eventually going to Canada or California for graduate school. She intends to study microbiology and genetics. Whatever Carrie does do, she will most likely be successful at. Congratulations to Carrie and good luck in the future.

Tara Forrester
All Around Business Department Student

Tara Forrester has had the "once in a lifetime" experience to have worked with every member of the Business Department in one way or another and to have taken almost every course offered by the department. "This experience has been a great one," says Tara. "The Business Department Members have helped me with my school life and my personal life. They have always been there for me."

Tara has taken Checks and Balances, Accounting, Keyboarding I, has worked with Mr. Richard Davis on the Shriner's Book for two years, and has also been part of the Community Service Program run by Mrs. Georgia Clancy.

Regarding the Shriner's Book, Tara says this is a great undertaking by Mr. Davis, and whatever money is raised by selling this book which describes high school football players to college coaches is donated to the Shriner's Hospital. Last year, $6,000 was donated to the hospital.

Tara says her first Community Service job was tutoring in a one on one situation with learning disabled children at the Whitman Middle School. "I love working with the children. I feel happy that they were so responsive to me." This second semester, Tara is working with first grade children at the Duval Elementary School.

Tara has applied to Curry College and will be pursuing a four year, double major program in dance and accounting.

With a giggle, Tara says that she will miss W-H, the Business Department Teachers especially ... in fact ... in her Class Will she left the Business Department to find another student like her.

Nathaniel Blauss

Nathaniel Blauss was awarded the Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science Award at the 1999 W-H graduation. Nathaniel says, "I have always loved science. I like trying to think of reasons why some things happen." Nathaniel would like to study Biology or Physics when he graduates from high school and has applied to colleges including Colgate, Cornell, Dartmouth, and the University of Rochester. Nathaniel is a multi-faceted student, having participated in a variety of activities while in high school including cross country, winter track, spring track, band and the math team.

Erin Biggins

Erin Biggins was the winner of the Massachusettes Water Resource Association Essay Contest. Erin won first place ($200 savings bond) and was awarded a family luncheon in her honor at the Federal Court House. More than 40 towns participated in this contest and over 400 essays were submitted.

Above Left: The W-H Band created a beautiful holiday atmosphere with their music at the State House Tree Lighting Ceremony on December 2nd. Yes, the band was invited to show off their talent in front of the state legislators this year. The band's performance was brilliant. They brought joyful notes that kept the audience tapping and singing.

Below: Pucker up! Students paid over $120 to see Mrs. Nancy Emerson, their "favorite" teacher, smooch the goat in the Kiss the Goat contest. The event was a fund raiser for the Band.

unforgettable events

hooray for hollywood ...

Hooray for Hollywood was the feature W-H Theatre Arts presentation Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, November 18, 19, and 20.

This first show of the season also included the "little children" from the elementary and middle schools of Whitman and Hanson. The grown up voices of the high school students were complemented by the sweet angelic voices of the younger students.

Ms. Connie Perkins, Director of Hooray for Hollywood, headed up another great production, enjoyed by cast, crew, and audience.

The members, Casey Geraghty, Laura Schmit, Jenna Doherty, Joyce Ellis, Amber D'Angelo, and Allison Kiely, performed with other talented W-H students a number of songs from classical movies such as Casablanca, Love is a Many Splendoured Thing, and Singing in the Rain.

"Be a Clown" was sung by several trios, including Laura Schmit, Matthew Woods, and Amber D'Angelo. James McGovern, in a colorful clown costume, was picked up and hugged by the girls to prove the point that "all the world loves a clown".

The cast of Hooray for Hollywood rehearsed most days after school from 3:00 to 5:30 for eight weeks. The Theatre Arts Program members look forward to regrouping again in the Spring for their next performance, A Funny Thing Happened On the Way to the Forum.

W-H Jazz Choir, Katie Flynn, Sherri Hannon, Tina Blosz, Amy Kosterman, Jonathan Richter, Daniel Rice, and David Gardner, performed "I've Got Rhythm" arranged by Jonathan Richter.

Veterans day parade ...

The Whitman-Hanson Band, in perfect harmony, performed one of its more popular tunes, "Jungle Boogie", at the 1999 Rockland Veterans Day Parade. The W-H Band marched from Read Sand and Gravel to the K-Mart Plaza. Above: The trumpet and saxophone section look snappy in their colorful band uniforms; Below: The trombone, saxophone, and percussion section are led down Union Street in Rockland by Elizabeth Spencer and Sarah Clemons.

The W-H Majorettes huddle together in the 30 degree weather.

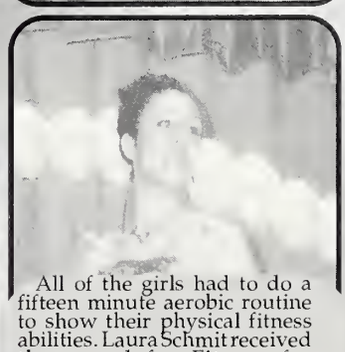
The Colorguard, as always, leads the band with their twirling flags and precision marching.

junior miss...

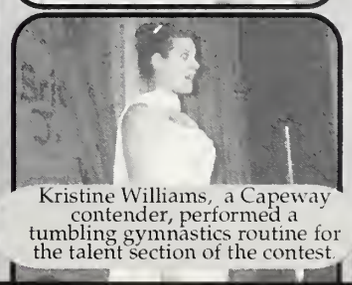
Scott Wisdom, one of six escorts for the Junior Miss Contest, had the difficult task of escorting the beauties on and off the stage.

Junior Miss is a scholarship program that awards Senior girls with scholarship money. Here, Laura Doyle, the winner of Capeway Jr. Miss, has just been crowned. Laura also received the talent award, performing a monologue from Cinderella, and the presence & composure award. This competition consists of five different categories which include: scholastic, interview, talent, presence & composure, and fitness. The competition was divided into two groups: Greater Bridgewater, which represents Hanson and Bridgewater; and Capeway, which represents Whitman and East Bridgewater.

Kim Jarrett, second runner up for Capeway, struts her stuff on stage. Kim also received the scholastic award for highest scholastic average.



All of the girls had to do a fifteen minute aerobic routine to show their physical fitness abilities. Laura Schmit received the award for Fitness for Capeway. Beauty can go along with muscle after all.



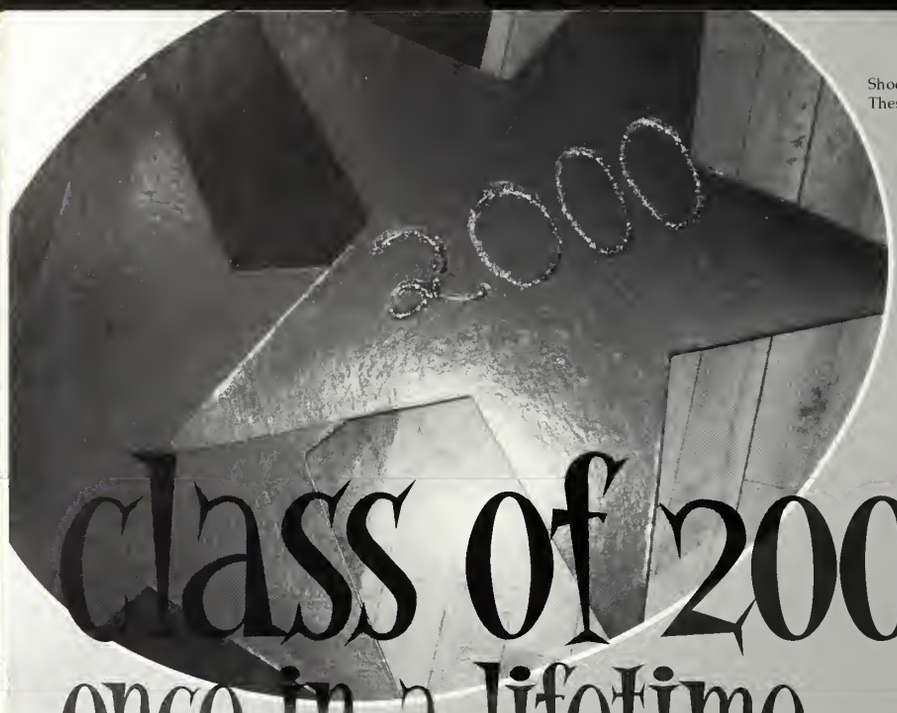
Kristine Williams, a Capeway contender, performed a tumbling gymnastics routine for the talent section of the contest.

Amy DeCoste had a very entertaining talent. She danced a jazz number to "Steam Heat" by Fosse, as a Greater Bridgewater contestant.

As a Greater Bridgewater contestant, Erin Devine chose to show off her signing ability. Erin signed "That's the Way It Is".

Erika King sang "Memories" from the production of Cats. Erika was a Greater Bridgewater contestant.

Presenting, for the talent section, a news report based on senior year was Marlana Weber, a Greater Bridgewater contestant .



Shooting Stars: These two stars first adorned the junior semi of last year and then the rally. These stars capture the aura of fun and creativity that surrounds the Class of 2000.

once in a lifetime ...

class history

HIGH SCHOOL HAD BEGUN ...

We entered next to the bike racks,
With the elevator to the right.
We sold towels to raise money,
And looked for the pool that was up three flights.

Block scheduling was new
And the classes were long.
We all wore pink at the rally;
We thought we were cool.
We were wrong.

Long hair was in,
Grunge faded fast,
MTV went sour
Thanks to the Real World Cast.

We learned to treasure our friends
Whom we held close to our hearts,
To pause and reflect with fondness
Of how Gloria left her mark.

The girls started volleyball;
The web was on the rise.
These nets gathered momentum
Which was no big suprise.

High school had begun.
We were well on our way.
Onto year two
And a brand new day.

WE CAME BACK ...

As Sophomores we came back
With much more power and respect,
No longer walking targets
Of harassment and neglect.

It was not a great year
For the princess and the nun.
Trees finished two
Kennedy and Bono were done.

A scandal and T*itanic*
Were two highlights of the year.
It seemed like Clinton and "that song"
Would never disappear.

MBTA arrived
To rumble the ground,
While the Toll House turned Whitman
Into the cookie town.

"Snackin' Loaves" and orange juice
At every MCAS test.
All the testing and food
Were so hard to digest.

Fall came around
And the Panther teams were great.
Football and track won the league
And the X-C teams ran at States.

Bugs and bombs
These were the problems that arose.
The bugs were all killed,
But who faked the bomb nobody knows.

Next year we'll be Juniors,
Upperclassmen at last.
We never thought the first two years
Would go by quite so fast.

Below: Scott Wisdom, Kristen Packard, Matthew Libby, Elizabeth Drewniak, Paul Garrett, Elizabeth Spencer, Sarah Clemons, Genevieve Gannon, Nicole Vayo, Brian Black, and Nathaniel Blauss find time to loosen up from their Senior AP English Class and write the Class History ... but Mrs. Anderson insisted on playing "Where's Beth"?

OUR JUNIOR YEAR HAD FINALLY COME ...

Our first year as upperclassmen
Our junior year had finally come
Taylor, Antonia, Marlana and Liz
Showed us how to have fun.

Whether we went near,
Or whether we went far
We all had to drive there
In our own separate car.

Our first Powder Puff,
And then the rally came.
Of course Whitman-Hanson won
The Thanksgiving game.

The Computer Fun Survey
Told us who we could date.
The Otises moved,
But they still tasted great.

We kept up with the times,
Although far from L.A.
The boy bands and Carson Daly
Were seen every day.

The new Star Wars galaxy
Lit up our day,
And we saw apple pie
In a totally new way.

We feared for Kosovo
And cried for Columbine.
We were addicted to Felicity and laughed at Drew on Who's Line.

We studied real hard
To earn a B plus,
But exemption from finals
Was not an option for us.

The prom was a night to remember;
The music played way past eleven.
Good-bye to Resnick and Lambert;
History/Spanish: a match made in heaven.

Three years had flown by us.
We had lots of fun,
But the best lies ahead
As Seniors we become.

class of 2000
remembers with emotion ...

THE BEST LIES AHEAD ...

The year began with president Scott.
Joined with Antonia, Marlana and Liz.
Through the rally, the semi and Powder-Puff
The superfans showed us what true spirit is.

Finally the time had come
To fill out applications.
SAT's added to our stress
As we asked our teachers for recommendations.

School lunches cost more
And so does an Otis cookie
A steel gate was put up
So we couldn't play hooky.

Thank you Mr. Horkey
And thank you Mr. Cole.
Although they will retire,
They've helped us reach our goal.

In sports it was ironic
The Red Sox put on a show,
But as for our home town heroes,
The football team didn't glow.

Boys track won the decade,
And girls cross country beat DY.
The volleyball team's total wins
Were better than three years combined.

The clock struck twelve;
everyone cheered.
We all screamed "Happy New Year!"
Turns out Y2K was just a big scare
What a surprise, we were all still here.

At the Senior prom
We all had a blast.
With the banquet and graduation
Our four years were done at last.

This chapter has ended;
A new one soon to start.
We'll keep our memories of Whitman-Hanson
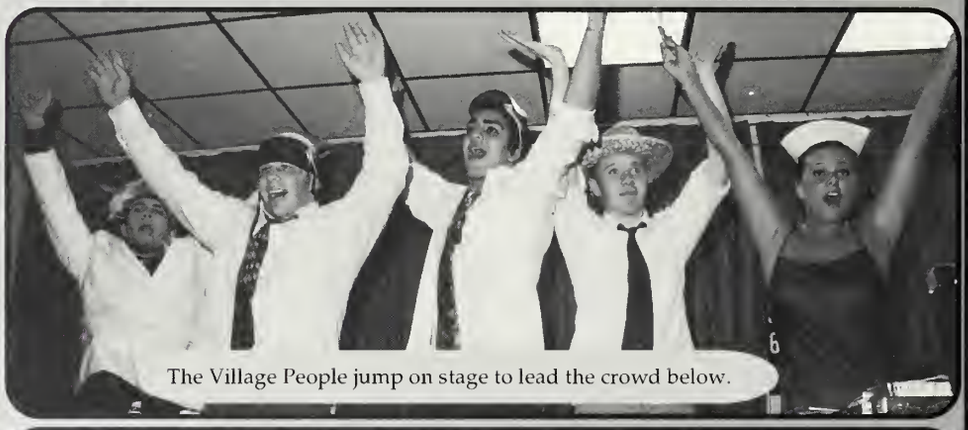
Although we will all be apart.

Bonnie Harriman and Jacob Dugas strike an elegant pose as they show their affection for each other.

jr/sr semi

November 10, 1999 began as a misty, mysterious evening. Whitman-Hanson juniors and seniors rushed around trying to find their friends and their dates for the big event... the Junior/Senior Semi. As the party goers walked the red carpet and checked in at the Sons of Italy Hall in Rockland with their dates, the clock struck six. The evening began with a Hollywood-esque atmosphere, with all the flashbulbs, smiles, and red and black balloons. Members of the Classes of 2000 and 2001 consumed the mountain of munchies and jammed to the DJ's crazy tunes for hours. It seemed as though the clock struck the departure time too soon; however, the night was truly an unforgettable one and indeed more than 350 partygoers enjoyed a "Once in a Lifetime" experience.

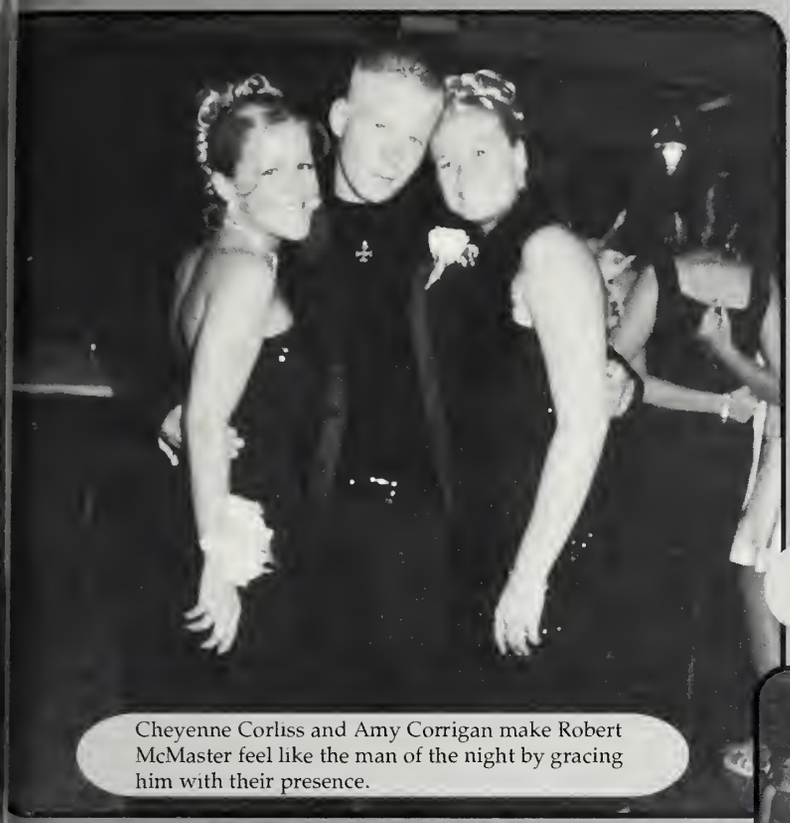


The Village People jump on stage to lead the crowd below.

All arms go in the air, as the classic jam YMCA invites all to get out on that dance floor.

Tara Forrester and David Chiros, totally oblivious to everything around them, look as though they are having a great time.

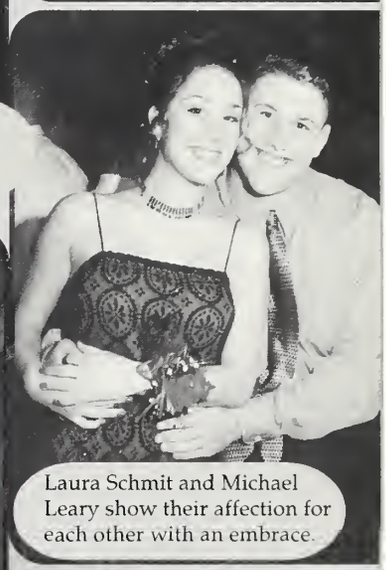
Kristi Newcomb and Toni Donati trade in their Marcello's uniforms for their dazzling gowns and a night of fun.



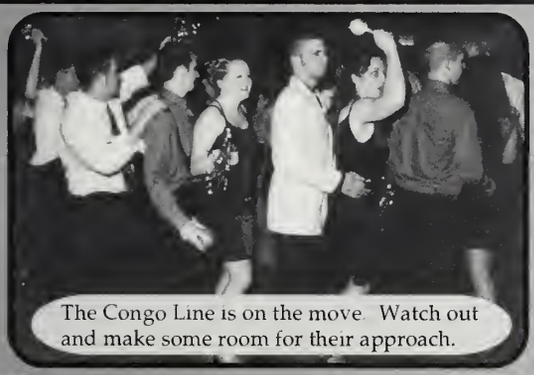
Cheyenne Corliss and Amy Corrigan make Robert McMaster feel like the man of the night by gracing him with their presence.

Marlana Weber, Joshua Rubino, David Smith, and Amy DeCoste take time out of dancing for a group hug.

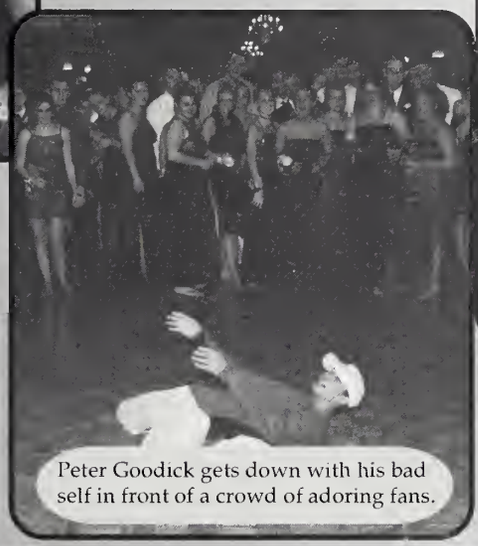
Fabien Hans from Belgium and Diana Gil from Colombia enjoy the American music.



Laura Schmit and Michael Leary show their affection for each other with an embrace.

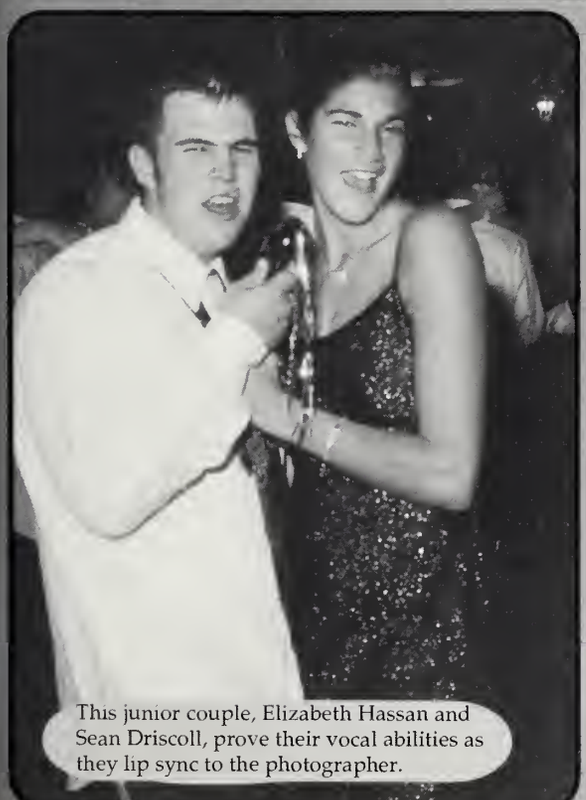


The Congo Line is on the move. Watch out and make some room for their approach.

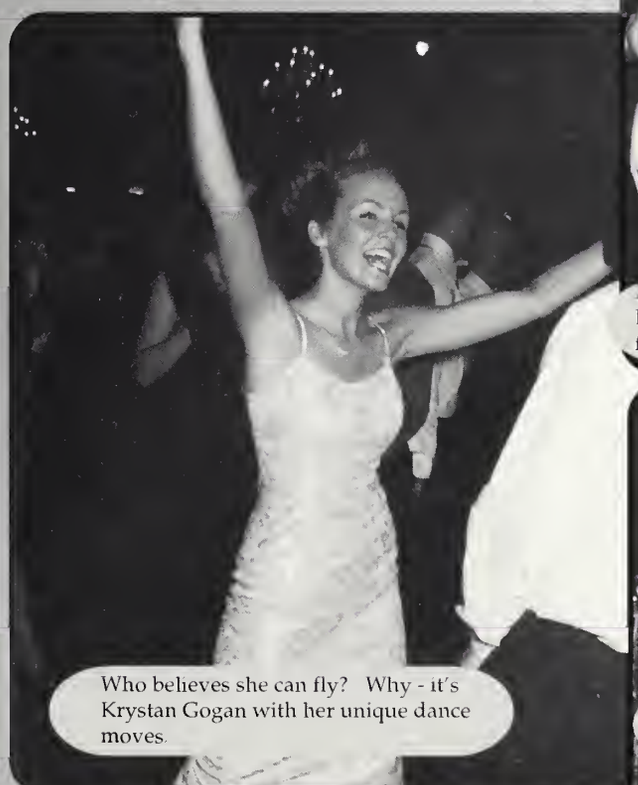


Peter Goodick gets down with his bad self in front of a crowd of adoring fans.

David Munstis and Rachel Lewis slow dance to one of the few slow songs of the evening.



This junior couple, Elizabeth Hassan and Sean Driscoll, prove their vocal abilities as they lip sync to the photographer.



Who believes she can fly? Why - it's Krystan Gogan with her unique dance moves.

Sheena Lake and Gregory MacPhelemy ... no, they're not going out!

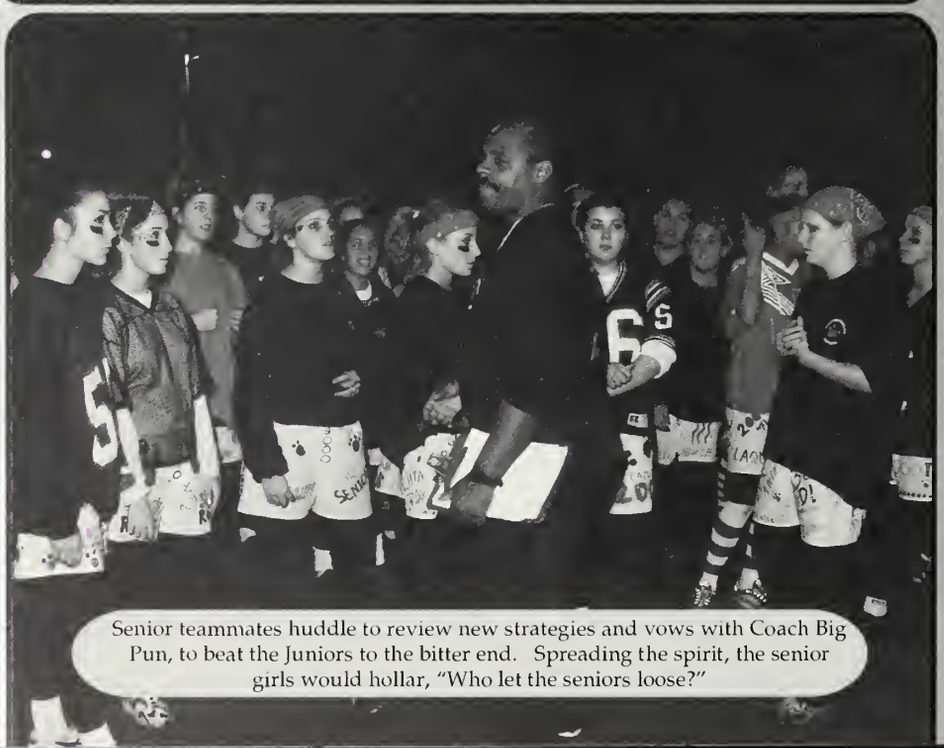
rally decorating ... powder puff ...

Students, wondering how to leave an everlasting mark to signify their time at Whitman-Hanson, took to the walls of the panther's gymnasium for the annual Rally Decorating Afternoon. Spirited decor, including streamers, black, red, white, and pink posters covered everything. Each color symbolized one of the four classes. As the day ended, the black night and full moon filled the sky. Now the spirit and competition was brought to the field. As seniors gave a "Who" they were joined by "Let the seniors loose." The entire senior team raised to its feet continuing the spirited chant. The crowd was kept on the edges of the bleachers by the enthusiastic cheerleaders and the performance these girls put on. The field echoed as the crowd tried to dominate each other in the battle between the juniors and the seniors. As the final score was announced, the two teams had tied. The pride of the Panthers really shined through that night.

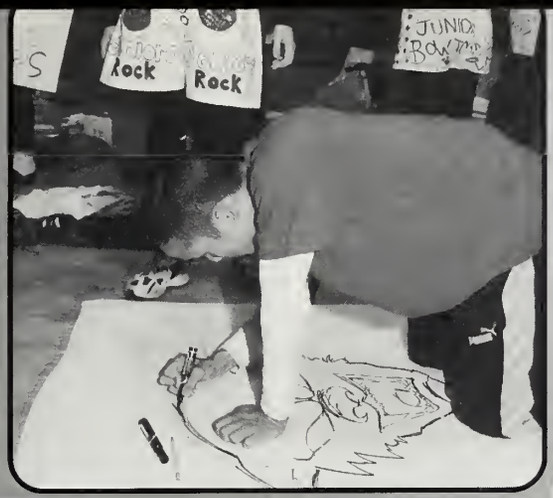
In the late afternoon, members of all classes come together to show their spirit, as rally decorating reaches its height.



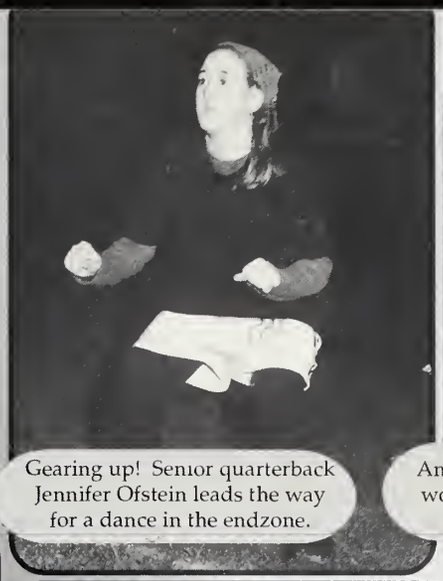
Senior teammates huddle to review new strategies and vows with Coach Big Pun, to beat the Juniors to the bitter end. Spreading the spirit, the senior girls would hollar, "Who let the seniors loose?"

Creating a look of spirit, Justin Dias and Barrett Stafford hang pieces of W-H's Panther Pride.

Kristen Wisdom and Melissa Howard sparkle with spirit while creating their Seniors Rule Poster.

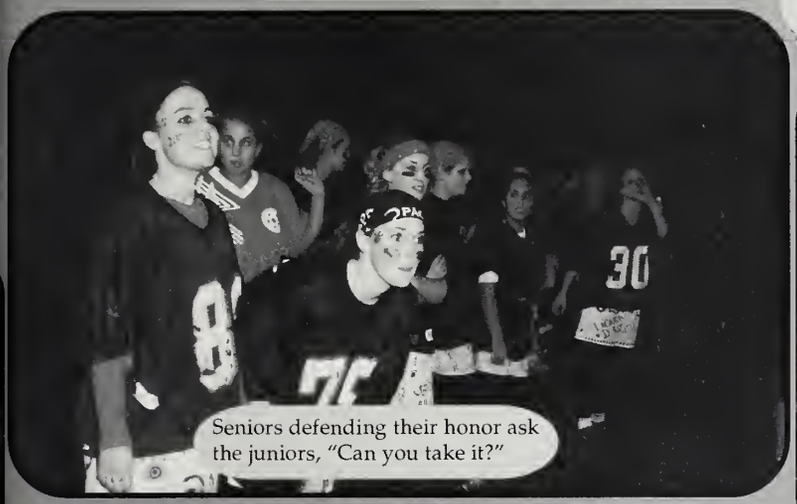


Senior Peter Goodick was voted Class Artist for obvious reasons.

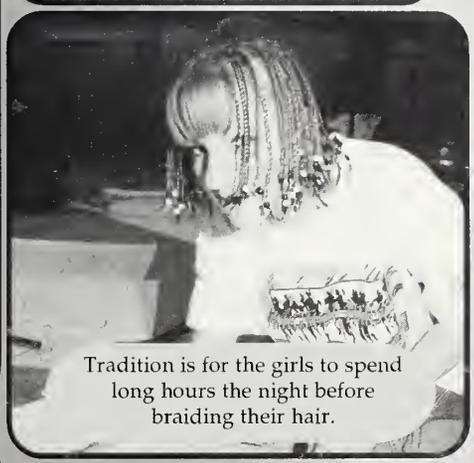


Gearing up! Senior quarterback Jennifer Ofstein leads the way for a dance in the endzone.

Andrea Scalata, playing defense, worked hard to prevent a score by the junior team.



Seniors defending their honor ask the juniors, "Can you take it?"



Tradition is for the girls to spend long hours the night before braiding their hair.

Linsey MacKenzie and Thomas McLaughlin hang spirit from the hoops of the Panthers' gymnasium.

THINKIN' PINK! Aren't these little pink kiddies so beautiful?

With intimidation, Kristi Newcomb warms up to show the juniors what she's made of.

Kristy Zamagni hugs the ball and heads for the goal line in hopes of scoring a touchdown.

During the pre-spirit hours during school, did anyone happen to get Drew Bledsoe's autograph? These junior girls were so creative Wait a minute! Let's remind these juniors that this is the home of the SENIORS!

Genevieve Gannon looked and played the part of the formidable senior running back.

I, MICHELLE ULLATHORNE, leave to Becky Merritt the best two years in this school and my parking space with my broken down Honda in it. I, MICHELLE UMANO, leave to Mary Umano a great freshman year and highschool memories to treasure forever. I, NICOLE VAYO, leave to Lindsay Vayo the ability to be nice and to have a smile for everyone; to Pam Kreckler my parking spot and loud music!; to DJ the ability to make a "mean" face; to all underclassmen - study hard and PARTY every chance you get! I, CHRIS WALKER, leave to Bob Dunham one more year to get into trouble doing the truffle shuffle. I, KRISTINE WILLIAMS, leave to Veronica Higgins two more years to be called "Best Bud Ronnie;" to Kerry Williams two more years of High School. I, KRISTEN WISDOM, leave to Jenna Doherty a trip to Georgia Tech.; to Laura Rideout and Carly Muise another year of softball; to Pat Wisdom three more years to achieve something.

A Change in Administration?

A Revamped Student Schedule!

With the push of a button, W-H's "pretend administrators" make it official. Each day will be different for future students. Things are going to change!

8:00 - 8:30	Optional Motivational Speech
8:30 - 9:15	Phonics
9:15 - 9:38	Locker Break
9:38 - 10:08	Spelling
10:08 - 10:26	Locker Break
10:26 - 11:00	Milk and Cookies Fluoride Treatment
11:00 - 11:45	Recess
11:45 - 12:30	Lunch
12:30 - 1:30	Naptime
1:30 - 2:00	Cartoons

WH's "new administrators": Jeff Welch (alias Rico Suave) at the computer; Joseph List, sporting dark shades; Nicholas Flynn, decked out in stripes; Paul Pellegrini, Mr. Preppie himself; and Jeffrey Andrews, doing his very own tie thing.

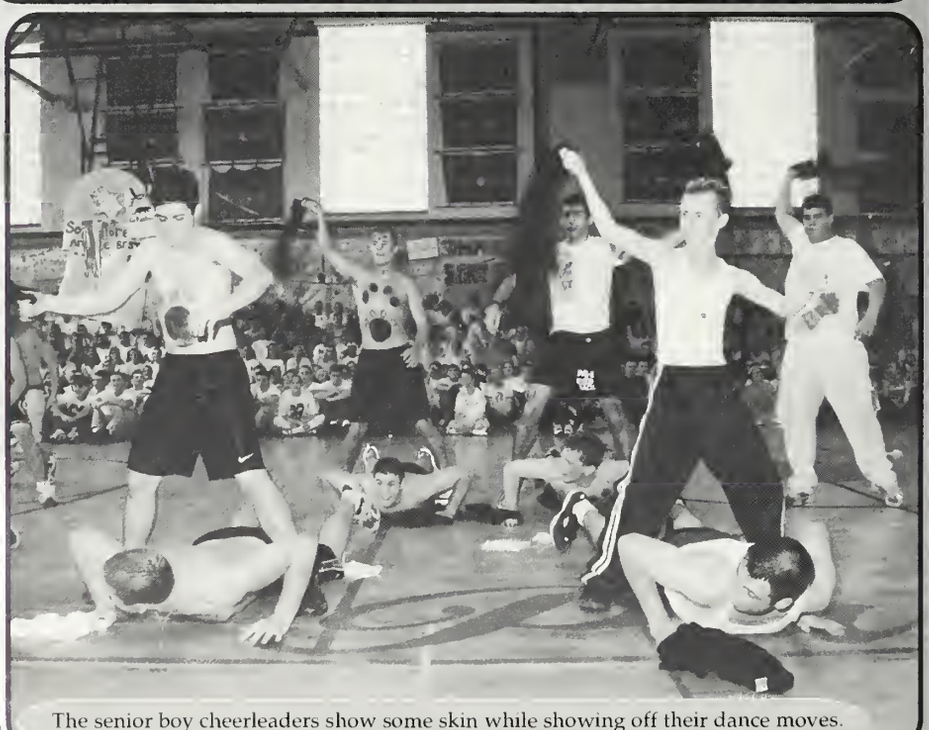
"With all the spirit, I know we'll do fine against the wave tomorrow in Abington."

Mr. Robert Bancroft, Varsity Football Coach

Thanksgiving rally ...

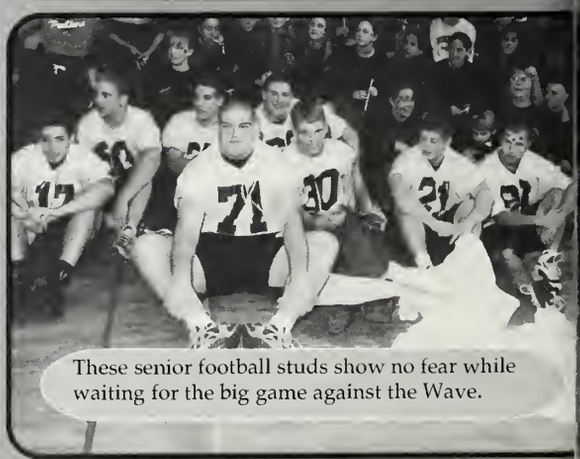
The Thanksgiving rally showed how much spirit Whitman-Hanson really has. Students and faculty agreed that never before had all four classes come together to cheer for their class and support their football team as much as this year. Members of the four grades dressed in their class colors and filled their section of the gym with posters. The walls were filled with banners and streamers hung up at rally decorating the night before. The signs and banners showed how much support W-H students have for their football team and how much they wanted to beat Abington at the Thanksgiving Day game. The whole school enjoyed watching the majorettes, colorguard, dance team, and jv and varsity cheerleading teams perform. They were also entertained by the band's music, the Miss Touchdown Awards, junior and senior boy cheerleading, and the senior skits. The rally was a success that had everyone pumped for the big game the following day. Indeed, the rally succeeded in inspiring the football team to win, as the Thanksgiving score was 33-14 W-H.

The Whitman-Hanson Varsity Cheerleaders walk with pride to entertain the crowd.



The senior boy cheerleaders show some skin while showing off their dance moves.

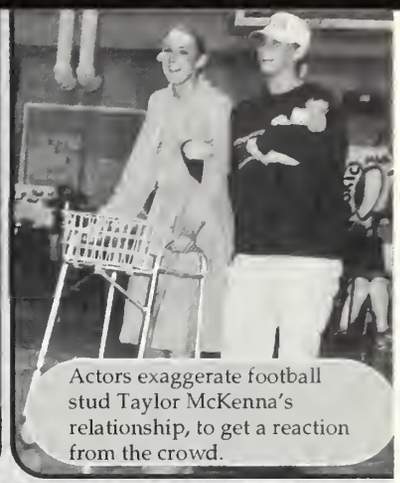
Majorette, Alyssa Hall, puts on a great performance to kick off the rally.



These senior football studs show no fear while waiting for the big game against the Wave.

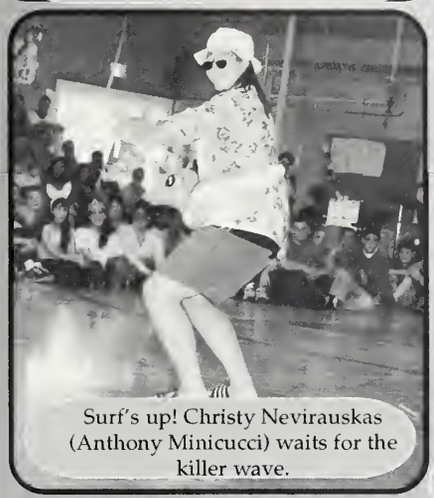
Big shout outs are given from the senior girls to their very own senior players on the varsity football team as they make their entrance from the lockeroom.

Flying High! Christine Tyler soars through the air completing a highly difficult back tuck, demonstrating her agility and talents in gymnastics.

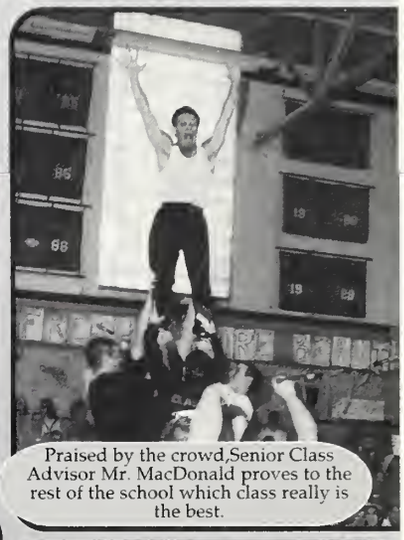


Actors exaggerate football stud Taylor McKenna's relationship, to get a reaction from the crowd.

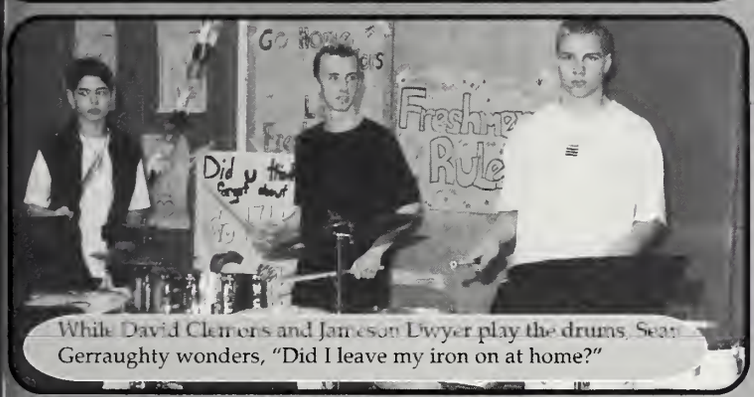
Full of energy, our very own Whitman-Hanson dance team puts on a powerful performance. The routine grabbed the attention of all who attended the rally.



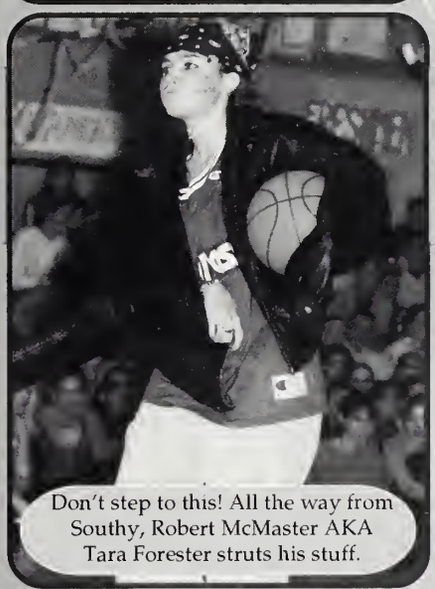
Surf's up! Christy Nevirauskas (Anthony Minicucci) waits for the killer wave.



Praised by the crowd,Senior Class Advisor Mr. MacDonald proves to the rest of the school which class really is the best.

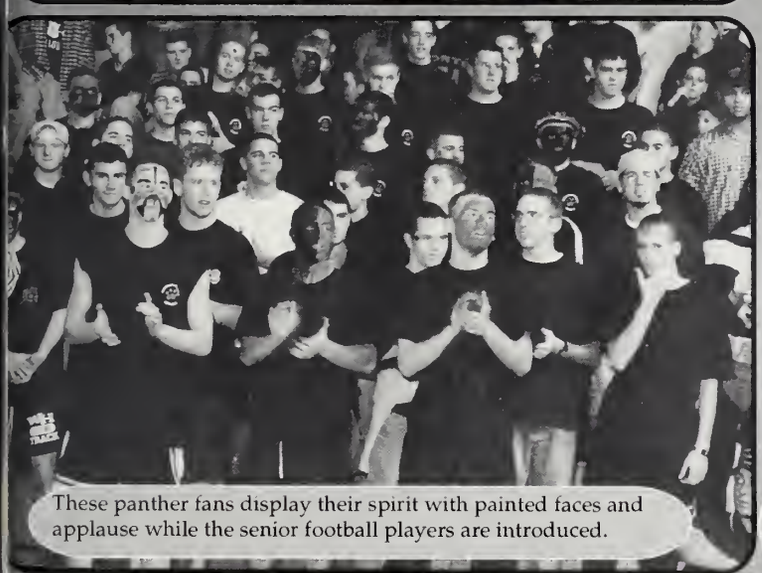


While David Clemens and Jameson Dwyer play the drums, Sean Gerraughty wonders, "Did I leave my iron on at home?"



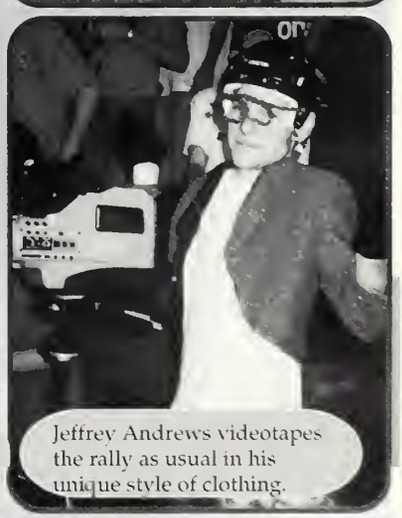
Don't step to this! All the way from Southy, Robert McMaster AKA Tara Forester struts his stuff.

Entertaining, Rachel Kelly shows color guard talent while doing her routine.



These panther fans display their spirit with painted faces and applause while the senior football players are introduced.

Sheena Lake (James Doyle) carries Bonnie Harriman (SeanGerraughty) to try to get a better look at the next Brittany Spears look alike.



Jeffrey Andrews videotapes the rally as usual in his unique style of clothing.

remembers with merriment & laughter when ...

Above: Remember when Lisa Showstead, as a freshman, wore her team soccer jacket, while she made a phone call for ... remember when ... 25 cents.

Below: Greg MacPhelemy, as a junior, made a sparkling appearance as a cheerleader at the Powder Puff 1998 Challenge.

Below: Heather Marcos, as a freshman, sported a spirit sticker, as she watched the Thanksgiving Rally ... thinking one day she would be a senior.

Remember when ... Kristen Wisdom drove to school with a tree branch stuck under her car and didn't even know it ... Steve Holbrook and Nick Altieri went to the Pawsox game and their parents got lost driving home ... Julie Burke threw up all over Mrs. Connolly's door ... We would go to the studios every Friday night ... Kim Harrington and Melissa Mandeville directed the high school talent show and the Science Department Teachers danced to YMCA ... Jarod Maggio, Mike Carson, and John Connolly were inseparable ... High school was scary ... Senior privileges actually meant we had privileges ... Mr. Stifler's AP History Class played ultimate frisbee against Mr. Thrasher's class ... Mr. Stifler and Mr. Lynn challenged Tricia Mello and Vanessa Sanborn to a tennis match, and then the students beat them ... Laura Gainey's mom came into lunch ... Jeff Andrews and John Connolly left French class for an hour at a time to look at the Science Department's flashy Christmas sign ... Andrea Ahearn had long hair ... everyone was a cheerleader ... Juniors didn't have parking privileges ... Jeanne Lotti got hit in the eye with a softball by Mr. Moriarty ... Stan Bradwin passed out and fell on Mrs. Lozzi ... Senior year was so far away ... Antonia Trigler didn't shave her legs unless the Volleyball Team won ... Erin Dowling fell down the stairs ... Toni Donati, Jeanne Lotti, and Maura Murray roomed together in Nauset and Maura broke the bed ...

We ate hot dogs doused in lighter fluid at the Dave Matthew's Band concert ... Nick Flynn wore his firefighter shirt and Joe List wore his Michigan everyday since middle school ... We all went to "fat Tuesdays" at Papa Gino's ... Disney security was after Meghan Gilmore, Linsey MacKenzie, Linda Brown and Laura Doyle at 4 a.m. ... Melinda Haley played Nintendo with Shane ... New Kids on the Block were popular ... The morning Bonnie Harriman's car stalled in the entrance to the school parking lot ... Caitlyn Carey's pineapple got passed around the whole school on April Fool's Day ... Hanson had an 8th Grade Rec ... Otis's were 35 cents each ... Two people flooded Carolyn Keeman's house during a basketball sleepover party freshman year ... Liz Drewniak hung out with all the exchange students ... We all took pictures of street signs on the way home from Riverside ... The crazy old guy tried to kill Mike Leary in Brockton - "Come on kid, behind the building, I'll fight ya'!" ... AKADEMIKS beat Honors at Dots ... Jeff Andrews jumped out of a car going 40 ... Joe List, Nick Flynn, and Ryan Scott threw a Spirit Day party before school 9/24/99 ... The football team had a better record than the volleyball team ... No one in the school wore tight flared pants ... Heather Marcos and Jeanne Lotti were contestants on the Bozo Show ... We thought WH was huge and had a pool ... We all had a dream ... Tom McLaughlin broke the urinational record in Mr.

Horkey's class ... Paul Pellegrini dropped his lunch and his face turned bright red on September 15, 1999 ... Dan McKinley was a little normal ... Andrea Connolly hit a bird on State Street ... There was a flood on the 2nd floor ... There were special little creatures in the math hall ... We had a bomb scare on the coldest day in May ... Anna Pearson was pantsed during team photos ... Kristi Newcomb took out the CVS sign ... We took lawnmower rides through Kristen Packard's backyard ... Punky, the shirt, was cool ... Having fun at Bickford's with Donny Sidor, Matt Libby and Joe List ... Katie Sances and Laura Schmit were hit by flying pickles ... College applications were in 4 years ... We booed at the seniors during the rally ... 04/03/99: Kevin Young and Kristen Showstead's six year anniversary ... Jim McGovern wanted his bike back ...Christina Robillard got locked in a closet for being late to class ... Chris Gay had his 5 Frosties and 5 small fries ... Nick Altieri couldn't feel his mouth ... Kristen Packard talked to apple sauce ... Jim Maloney got his head caught in the bars at the Children's Museum ... Greg MacPhelemy threw up in Mr. Horkey's class and Mr. Horkey had to use a spoon to get the chunks out of the sink ... We forgot how to spell "freshmen" at the rally ... We all had a food fight during lunch junior year ... It was cool to sit in the back of the bus ... Derek Manna broke both of his wrists at the sophomore lock-in ... Mobile hot dogs were really good ... Kathryn McDonald got goosebumps in gym class ... Jeff Andrews stood up at the rally freshman year and lifted his shirt ...Amy DeCoste and Matt Tonello "got married" on the playground on Valentine's Day in third grade ... We had a disaster drill at Hanson Middle School ... Andrea Scalata and Jessica Rust played midget football ... Amy Mulligan was a much sought out person after school ... The cafeteria didn't sell ice cream at lunch ...There was no back gate to lock us in ...We used to have nap time - why don't we have that anymore?

GLORIA COMPSTON ... September 14, 1982 - January 11, 1997

Gently as the evening sun says goodnight to the trees,
Quietly as grasses bend before a rushing breeze,
Surely as the ocean waves advance to touch the shore,
Silently as autumn leaves fall to the forest floor -
So may the passing of the days heal loneliness and pain,
Till nothing but warm memories of love and joy remain.

Greeting Card Sentiment

"Some people come into our lives and quickly go. Some stay for a while and leave footprints on our hearts. And they are never, ever forgotten."
~Anonymous

"Friends forever," you promised.
"Together till the end."
We did everything with each other.
You were our best friend.

When we were sad, you were by our side.
When we were scared, you felt our fear.
You were our best support -
If we needed you, you were there.

You were the greatest friend,
You always knew what to say:
You made everything seem better.
As long as we had each other,
Everything would be okay.

As we grow older, things must change
But they don't always have to end.
Even though it is different now,
You will always be our friend.

We'll always remember you Glowy!
Love, All your friends

the fun has just begun.

Left: Kristin Marcucella, says, "My junior year has been filled with memories. Also, I have grown up a lot this year including being able to better make decisions on my own. My advice to the sophomores: Don't fall behind in your school work. You will regret it in the end. Also, don't get discouraged ... and most of all, don't give up."

underclassmen ...

Left: Katy McAvoy says, "Junior year is full of different experiences from which I have learned many lessons. There is so much to do. I really need to be responsible in order to manage SAT's, homework, clubs, sports, and getting my license. Special events this year have been great ... my costume wardrobe is growing. My advice to underclassmen is to keep your grades up and have a positive outlook on life for the future."

Above: Underclassman Patrick Casey says, "As a sophomore, this year has had its positives to look forward to. I've been actively involved with soccer and baseball. Taking Driver Education, getting my learner's permit, and finally getting my license are milestones in my life. One bit of advice to the freshmen is to be involved in extra curricular activities and have fun while doing them."

Right: On a lighter note - there is time for some play in the schedule of underclassmen. Jon McMullen, Alexandrea Daley, Kerri Egan, Ashley Dacey, Carolyn Arena, Rebecca Merritt, Daniel Flanagan, and Ryan Griffith are so lucky - 24 minutes to relax at lunch time!

JUNIORS ... CLASS OF 2001 ... GRADE 11 ...

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Tony Generous, Treasurer; Mark Gredler, Vice-President; Stephen Lanza, President; Marika Beaton, Secretary.

The Junior Class is a unique conglomeration of spirited individuals who enjoy class activities and exude enthusiasm. Led by President Steve Lanza, Vice-President Mark Gredler, Treasurer Tony Generous, and Secretary Marika Beaton, the Junior Class has hosted several special events.

Jello Wrestling, an upcoming yardsale, the annual student faculty basketball game, and successful fundraising projects, such as a raffle, can all be attributed to a class ready and willing to make the best of their high school experience.

Class dues were a bit stagnated at the beginning of the year, but once payment became a necessary prerequisite for attendance at the Junior/Senior Semi, collection of class dues increased. The class is eagerly anticipating the prom, which will be held at the Canoe Club this year, and the annual class trip to Riverside. Furthermore, the class will be receiving their rings in February, a much awaited tradition. The majority of the Junior Class did in fact order rings, serving to prove that the Class of 2001 is one of spirit and unity.

At the moment, the Junior Class has a sufficient treasury and is already planning the senior year activities.

Junior Class President, Steve Lanza, says, "as in the words of Ferris Bueller, we juniors should remember that the world goes by pretty fast. If we don't stop and take a look, we could miss it."

JUNIORS ... SPIRIT DAY ... GRADE 11 ...

Juniors Kathleen McAvoy and Alicia Kulikowski prepare for Spirit Day, by beginning to decorate their faces with Panther paws. Their red shirts add to their array of school spirit. Katy McAvoy says, "Spirit Day is a day that I can get creative and show my school spirit".

Lindsay Oleson and Elizabeth Salamone are strolling down the hallway in style, with their decorated faces and their black and red shirts. They were just a couple of many that participated in the first ever Spirit Day.

A group of juniors are dressed in a variety of ways for the first Spirit Day ever. Some of the athletes, like the football and soccer players, are wearing their uniforms to support their teams. The others are decked out in their red, black and white clothes to show their true school spirit!

Juniors Stacey Russo and Erin Re pose for a quick picture on Spirit Day. Their red, white, and black shirts bring out their true school spirit. The panther paw on Stacey'sface shows her true panther pride. Stacey is wearing her uniform, so she can cheer on the football team at their first Home game, that night. Erin is thinking about how good the panther football team is and how much they are going to win by that night.

FLICKS OF THE NINETIES...

The last year of the century certainly produced a variety of movies - from horror films like the Sixth Sense to sci-fi thrillers like The Phantom Menace to comedies like Austin Powers 2: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Some movies drew in huge crowds which left happy; other films left audiences disappointed. After all, who would have thought that The Phantom Menace would flop and Austin Powers 2 would be a huge success, proving that sequels can be better than the original.

The Sixth Sense, a movie from the horror genre, made headlines as true thriller audiences especially loved the surprise ending which won't be revealed in case there's anyone left who hasn't seen the movie yet.

In the comedy genre, audiences got their fair share of laughs. Austin Powers, indeed a huge success, portrayed Mike Myers 1960's alterego, complete with a never ending supply of "randy" jokes. American Pie, followed in the footsteps of Austin Powers, entertaining audiences with racy jokes and the integration of "baked goods" into teen humor. Adam Sandler showed his mature side in Big Daddy, yet another one of his hilarious movies. He plays an intelligent lawyer who doesn't have to work because of the large sum of money he received in a lawsuit after being hit by a car and then invested in stocks - very realistic.

No one thought the shaky, hand-filed "mockumentary" Blair Witch Project would draw in such large audiences. And for Blair Witch fans who didn't get enough horror in the first movie, they can always hope for more "newly discovered footage".

1999 was definitely a year of dramas, ranging from Man on the Moon to Magnolia to American Beauty as well as movies like The Insider, Cradle Will Rock, and All About My Mother.

Regarding End of Days, Arnold Schwarzenegger supposedly said he wanted to make a movie that related to the current time - after all, the movie was released just before the century ended. Unfortunately, most people were not entertained by the 52 year old action star, and the movie has not proven to be very successful.

The end of 1999 saw new releases like End of Days, Any Given Sunday, and Pokemon, which for some reason appealed to audience members above 5 years old. Some movies were disappointing (Phantom Menace), some were terrifying (The Sixth Sense), and some were just downright hilarious. All in all, 1999 was a truly "shagadelic" year for movies!

Nominations for the 2000 Academy Awards will be announced February 15, 2000. The 72nd Annual Academy Awards Presentation will take place Sunday, March 26, 2000 at the Los Angeles Shrine Auditorium with host Billy Crystal.

JUNIORS ... HALLOWEEN ... GRADE 11 ...

Laura Billings as dancer ...
In the sixth grade I danced. So, I took that costume and threw it together with a few variations ...definitely a last minute thing. I think that it's cool everyone has school spirit. "It's fun to get candy the night of Halloween."

Steven Foster as disco girl ...
My dream is to find my dance moves, so I went back to the 60's. Halloween is great because, "it's an opportunity to see different outfits people dress in. Halloween is all fun and games. The best is I can eat a lot of candy."

Joseph Zavalia as Coolio or J.F.P. ...
J.F.P. is a name I made up for myself over the summer. Whether Coolio or J.F.P., I could put dredlocks in my hair. I had put them in one other time and got great responses from people. "The reactions were equally great on Halloween."

Jason Pietroski as "Freak" ...
The reason I dressed as a freak is because people think I'm weird. So, I decided to prove them right and dress like one. Halloween is a time to go all out.

BEST FRIENDS

Jenn Gerry writes: "My best senior friend is Melissa Long. She has been a great friend over the past 2 years. I became friends with her when I came into this school. Throughout showchoir and chorus, she has really shown me how to work as a team and support others. She's a great friend."

COUSINS

Stacey Russo says: "This senior is not actually a best friend, but a great cousin. Patrick McCarthy is one person who knows and cares about who he is and what he is doing. My cousin is really close with my family, so he is almost like a brother. I am glad that Pat is my cousin. Thanks Pat. I love ya."

Michael Fuller says: "David Gardner is a funny, outgoing person with a great deal of musical and acting talent. He pushes people to their highest ability to accomplish tasks that will make their lives easier and more cheerful. He always tries his hardest to make people laugh and always does a good job at it. Dave and I are third cousins, but we did not become really good friends until I became a freshman. Dave is as great friend, and I wouldn't make him different in any way, even though he is different."

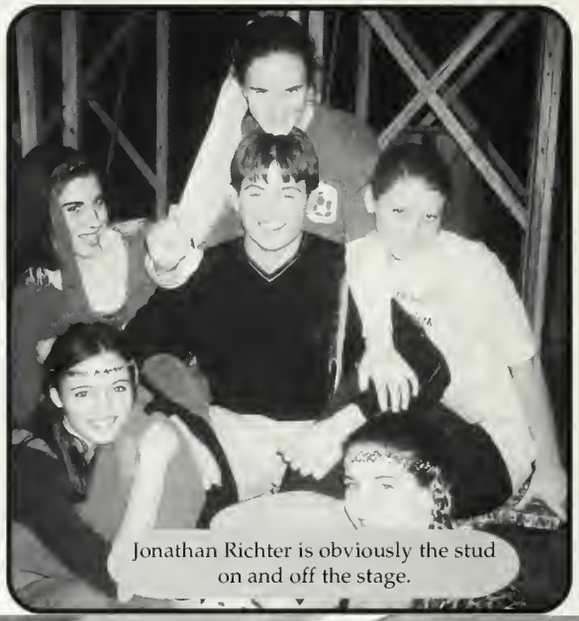
A Funny Thing Happened On the Way to the Forum: Juniors rehearsing for the play include: Heather Clough, Jenna Doherty, Joyce Ellis, Jonathan Richter, Joanna Clarke, Melissa Ford, Kathleen Flynn, Brian Carson, and Megan Connolly. This play is about Hero, a man who wants to marry a courtesan, but she has been sold to a Captain, Miles Gloriosus. Hero will win his sweetheart at the end.

juniors ... work & play

Look at these styling juniors showing off their pearly whites.



Jonathan Richter is obviously the stud on and off the stage.

Members of the junior class gets all decked out in their Halloween costumes. Don't they look like a big family?

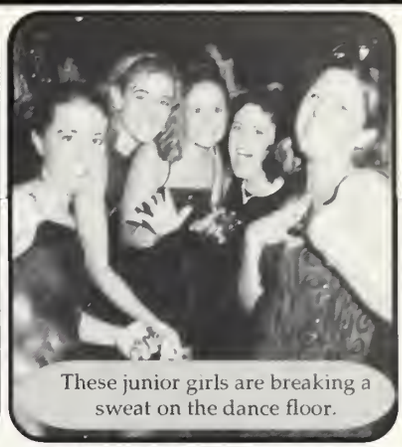
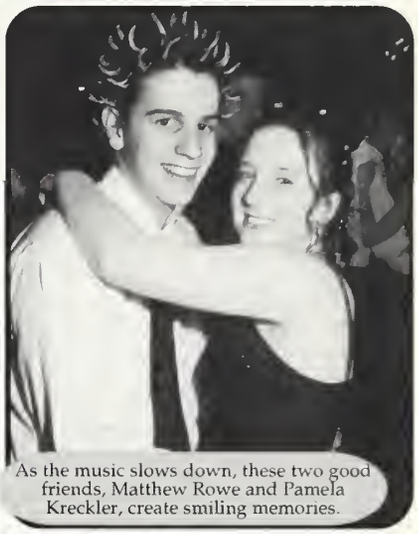
Anthony Capilli shows off his artistic skills with this picture of a crazy-looking guy with the Egyptian pyramids in the background.



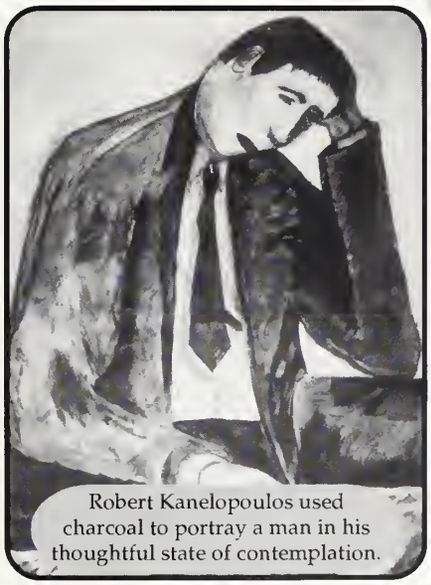
These junior girls are breaking a sweat on the dance floor.

This talented artist, Kathryn Hopkins receives an honorable mention for her self-portrait.

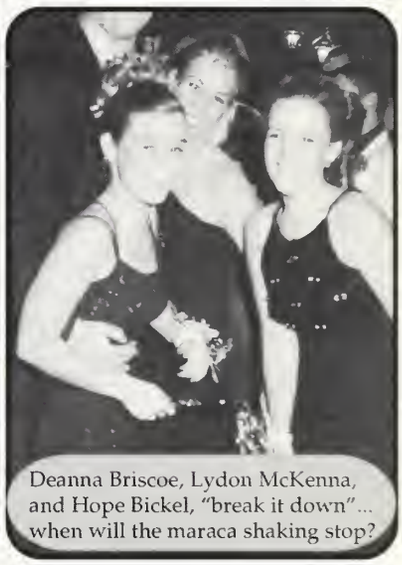


As the music slows down, these two good friends, Matthew Rowe and Pamela Kreckler, create smiling memories.

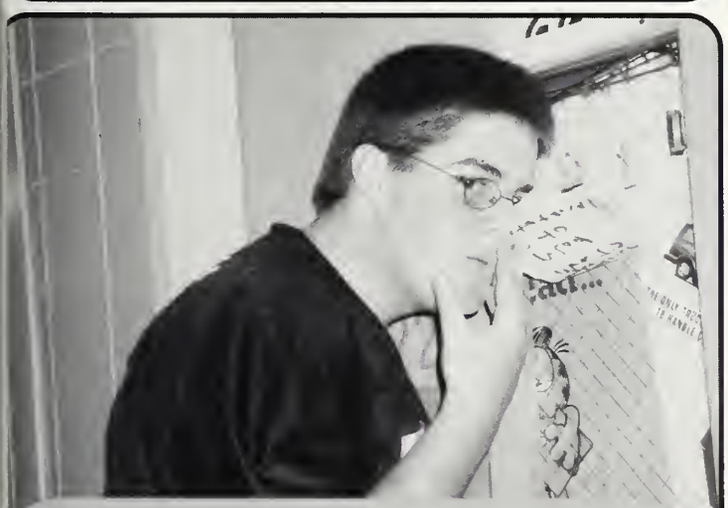
Lori Coburn and Lindsay Kelliher are planning an "escape", known only to those who are watching via closed circuit TV.



Robert Kanelopoulos used charcoal to portray a man in his thoughtful state of contemplation.



Deanna Briscoe, Lydon McKenna, and Hope Bickel, "break it down"... when will the maraca shaking stop?



Tim Devine is starting to smell his way down to the cafeteria after he has seen the sign on the door.

With the use of black india ink, Brian Milco expresses the feeling of darkness many feel in society.

At the semi this year, friends Stacy Russo and Erin Biggins made many memories and had a fantastic time.

SOPHOMORES ... CLASS OF 2002 ... GRADE 10 ...

"So far, the Class of 2002 has given a great deal of effort to make all school and class events as enjoyable as possible," says Courtney Phillips, Class President. "Some classes come to Whitman-Hanson without ever making any sort of impact or difference. Unlike those classes, 2002 has a special uniqueness. Schoolwide events only bring us closer. We are a class which is extremely athletic, competitive, involved, artistic, and spirited. These qualities help us to make our difference. We held our heads up high and proud as the Juniors and Seniors shouted, 'Go Home Underclassmen!!' But just let everyone know, 2002 is here to stay, and we're ready for everything that comes our way."

The Class Officers are currently in the process of planning events for the rest of the year. Last year, class members went to Water Country in New Hampshire for the class trip; this year the class is considering going to a water or amusement park, such as Six Flags in New Jersey for the class trip.

Also in the planning stage is the Junior Prom. The Class of 2002 has decided that the prom will most likely be held at a place that has not usually been used by the majority of the Whitman-Hanson classes. Although not sure where the prom will be, Class President Phillips promises that the night will be one of "fun and memories".

About her role as President, Courtney says, "Like anything, practice makes perfect. So, this being my first year, everything hasn't been just right. But, for being a rookie, everything has gone smoothly so far. My goal is to just have fun without ignoring my responsibilities."

Sophomore Class Advisors:
Mr. David Floeck;
Mrs. Allison Floeck.

"The job of Secretary to me is just as meaningful as being treasurer or vice-president or even president. Because, as Secretary, I want to make a difference."
Lillian Dignan, Secretary

"I want to help our class by doing as much as I can to make the next years of high school the best."

SOPHOMORES ... SPIRIT DAY ... GRADE 10 ...

Stephanie Howard, Nathan Garrett, Courtney Phillips, and Lillian Dignan show their school spirit as they wear Whitman-Hanson school colors (red and black) for Spirit Day. Courtney Phillips said, "I dressed up for Spirit Day because I didn't want to miss out on any of the fun everyone else was having. Spirit Day means to me a day when I can step out of the ordinary and have a little fun." Lillian Dignan added, "Spirit Day is a day to show how much school spirit a person has and how great a certain school is."

Sophomore Abby Madden shows that she has a lot of school spirit. She is decked out in all red and black. Abby painted her face, arms, and finger nails with red and black WH and Panther paws. She also tied ribbons on her wrist and in her hair. Abby was one of the majority that dressed up for this successful Spirit Day. Abby went on to win the contest for most spirited sophomore.

Janine Pare stands with anticipation for a successful Spirit Day. She hopes Spirit Day becomes a tradition for years to come.

SOUNDS OF THE NINETIES

As 1999 rolls to a close, we take a look back at what happened in the world of music over the course of the year. The largest movement in this year was the massive burst of teenage pop culture. Groups such as the Backstreet Boys, N*Sync, and 98 Degrees, and singers such as Britney Spears and Christina Aguilera led the teenage burst of excitement in music. The rock world brought follow-up albums from such bands as Creed, Limp Bizkit, Korn, and Rage Against the Machine, and brought several blistering debuts including the Fred Durst-produced Staind. Rock collaborations continued with the highly anticipated release of Metallica's "S&M," an album consisting of unique performances from Metallica's two April shows with the San Francisco Symphony. A pop collaboration album Santana brought them into the mainstream, with such collaborations as Rob Thomas's "Smooth," and Everlast's "Put Your Lights On." The rap and R&B genre continued to bring music from such acts as DMX, Master P, and Puff Daddy, and brought forth newcomer Eminem. Comedy albums pulled into the mainstream this year with Adam Sandler's " Stan and Judy's Kid," and Chris Rock's " Bigger and Blacker."

With the bursting activity in the music business this year, concert venues were gearing up for a stream of large headlining tours. Tours such as Ozzfest and the Family Values tour highlighted the large venue scene, while other smaller tours such as Campus Invasion and Levi's Fuse traveled throughout the country. The most anxiously awaited event this year was Woodstock '99, a 30th anniversary celebration of the original Woodstock that was held in 1969. On the bill were such acts as Korn, Metallica, Limp Bizkit, Kid Rock, Creed, Live, and the Dave Matthews Band, as well as Everlast, Jewel, Our Lady Peace, and the Brian Setzer Orchestra among others. The festival was held in July over the course of three days in Rome, New York.

The close of the Millennium opens the door to an entirely new mave of music, in which we may see the millenium version of Elvis Presley or the return of the 80's hair band. What might happen in music in 2000 and beyond is a question that no one can answer because the world of music is so unpredictable. We can only hope that music will continue to bring new surprises and contuinue to grasp human interest for years to come.

"I dressed up for Halloween this year, as Halloween is a really fun holiday that gives people a chance to use their imagination. I dressed up as Pippi because I thought it would be fun to walk around with braids sticking straight out for the day."

Kaylan Hurley as grandmother ...
"I thought it would be fun to dress up for Halloween, since it is one of my favorite holidays. I borrowed my grandmother's old clothes and dressed up like an old lady. I wanted to try something new and show a little school spirit."

Stephanie Howard as Raggedy Anne
... "I like to show my school spirit; therefore, I dressed up. The day is more enjoyable and goes by more quickly when people are happy. I love how pumpkins are carved for Halloween."

SOPHOMORES ... ROLE MODELS ... GRADE 10 ...

I look up to my older brother, Jeffrey, because he is a great friend to me and very funny. He makes me laugh all the time, even when I don't want to, and he never cares what other people think of him. I know that high school is almost over for him, but he better not forget about me. Whatever his future has in store for him, I wish him good luck.

Kate Meehan about her brother, Senior Jeffrey Meehan ...

Stephanie Howard about her sister, Senior Melissa Howard ...

I look up to my sister, Melissa, because she is a role model. She also has pushed me to do things that I would have never done without her inspiration. She also has taught me some valuable lessons in life and is the kind of sister that many people would like to love.

Love, Steph

Casey Geraghty about her brother, Senior Brendan Geraghty ...

"Brendan is such a nice, friendly person. He gets along with everybody and I really look up to him for that. Even though he's usually too protective of me, I'm going to miss having him around, but I know he'll always be there for me as he has in the past. We've grown alot closer in our years together at W-H and I can't believe that he'll be graduating in the spring."

Cassie Fountaine about her brother, Senior Brian Fountaine ...

"I look up to my brother Brian because he has always been there for me. I'll never forget how he took 'such good care of me' on my first day of high school. Although Brian always gets his way at home, he always shares 'his wealth' with me at a later time. Brian and I have become the best of friends, because I respect him and look forward to whatever advice he gives me. I hope our relationship never changes."

John DeCoste about his sister, Senior Amy DeCoste ...

"I admire and look up to my older sister because she has taught me many meaningful things throughout my life. I have always looked up to her, not only as a sister, but as a role model and a friend. Since my first day of high school here at Whitman-Hanson, Amy has taught me the many tricks to get by in High School. She has always been there for me when I have needed her. Thanks Amy and Good Luck in college."

Freshman Class Officers: Kathleen Keeman, Treasurer; Russell Young, President; Matthew Vincent, Vice-President; Tiffany Puliafico, Secretary.

Off to a Great Start ...

The Freshman Class has begun its year with the officers embarking upon a unique project, that of a class newsletter. The first letter came out just before the holidays, and future issues are planned.

The Class has gotten its first taste of fundraising in high school with a moderately successful year. Class Treasurer, Kathleen Keeman, says the Freshman Class has raised about $200 selling Domino's Pizza Cards. Overall, the class didn't have much participation, however, one girl, ... managed to sell 16 Pizza Cards herself. Class President, Russell Young, says there are plans for 3rd and 4th quarter fundraisers selling candy and lollipops. Also, the class officers have organized a plan with Burger King to receive 2 percent of all sales on the 3rd Wednesday of the month, provided students place their receipts in the designated box.

The Class Officers, along with the Advisors, are planning a lock-in for the 4th of February in hopes of not only having a good time but also raising money for the Class of 2003. The lock-in is said to be planned around the theme of "recreating the millennium".

Enthused about his presidential role, Russell Young says he hopes to remain as Class Officer for all four years.

Ms. Jana Iampietro says one future endeavor promised by the Class President is to develop a recycling program for plastic bottles throughout the school.

SPORTS OF THE NINETIES

What's the first thing that you think of when you hear 1999? Movies? Music? What about sports? Many changes have occurred this past year in sports. Some things are better than others; however, sports have had a major impact on the country.

The Patriots weren't too great this year. Just because the team wasn't great, however, doesn't mean that a lot of things haven't happened this year. Head Coach Pete Carroll is no longer the head honcho of the Patriots. Also, owner Bob Kraft had contemplated moving the team to Hartford, Connecticut. After many months of decision making, it was decided that the Patriots will stay in Foxboro.

Then there was the Boston Celtics and Boston Bruins. Hmmm... Moving on... The Boston Red Sox did exceptionally well this year. Their star pitcher, Pedro Martinez, won the Cy Young award. Also, the All-Star Baseball Game was held at Fenway Park.

The U.S. Soccer Teams are also doing great, especially the women's soccer team. The team won the gold medal in the '98 Olympics. Not only did we see that women are great at sports, but also it's OK to rip off your shirt after you score the winning penalty shot.

Sports have come a long way. 50 years ago women were not allowed to play many kinds of sports. Also, for many years, females weren't allowed to be in the same gym class as males. Now, however, there are many sports offered to everyone. Although female sports have progressed a great deal from 50 years ago, they still have a long way to go.

Women's basketball is also becoming more popular. There is now a Woman's National Basketball Association (WNBA). Names like Lisa Leslie and Cheryl Swoops are now becoming household names. This shows how great women athletes truly are.

Sports have also taken a huge turn for the worse. More athletes have been thrown in jail and suspended from games than there have ever been before. Hearing about athletes being caught with drugs or beating people up is no longer surprising. Yet, with all of these things happening, the players who commit these crimes still earn millions of dollars. These are only a few of the negative elements of sports.

Well, a lot has happened in sports in Massachusetts, the United States, the world ... The millennium will open many windows for sports to be improved. Who knows what sports we'll have in the future?

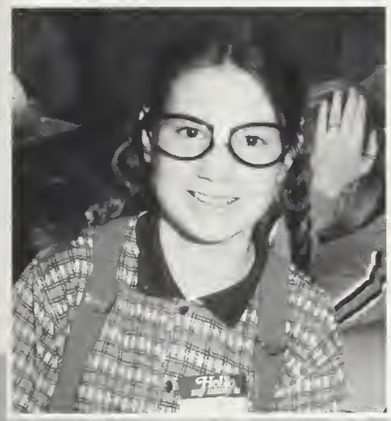
Katie Jordan as "Geek"...
"I'm not sure why I dressed this way. It was the only thing I could think of that was easy. I really just wanted to have fun and I think it is great you get to wear whatever you want. It gives you the opportunity to show off the wacky side. The biggest surprise to me was how everyone in high school dressed up."



Kristen Merlin as "Psychotic Soldier"...
"The day before I was told by friends to spike my hair. They didn't think that I would. So, to prove them wrong, I did. I even got up a hour and a half earlier than usual. I really like Halloween because it is fun. Especially, to see others' reactions. Everyone thought I was crazy. Half of the school didn't recognize me."

Jennifer Thomson as "Cat"...
"The reason I dressed like a cat was because my friend and I wanted to have corresponding outfits, so I was the cat and she was the mouse. I really enjoy Halloween and that I get to see what my friends choose to dress as."

Sharon Lyons as "???"...
"I threw together clothes to make a crazy outfit. I really just wanted to wear my funky wig, and I knew that was the only way I could. I love to dress up. I think it is awesome! The day goes by faster when you have all of this excitement going on."

Michael Drewniak about sister, Elizabeth Drewniak...

Liz has been one of the most influential individuals of my life. Qualities, such as her intelligence, perserverance, and organization skills, have impressed me and others throughout her years as a student. I have always looked up to her, and I have tried to emulate her successes.

So, I wish you luck in whatever path you decide to follow, although I know you do not need it. Have fun in college, Liz, and do not eat too much cheese. Remember, you are number One in my book.

-Mike Drewniak

Kelli Sances about her sister, Senior Katie Sances ...

I look up to Katie because she is a really good role model. Seeing that I am just a freshman, she helps me out on what to do and expect in high school. She is fun to hang out with, and she lets me wear her clothes and do fun things with her. She is a big help when it comes to school because she shows me around and drives me to school! I'm glad she's a senior and we're in the same school because she talks to me and doesn't ignore me in the halls. She treats me like a friend and not just a little sister. I really look up to my sister and always will; I hope to be just like her, because she's a really cool senior!

Shining Super Stars

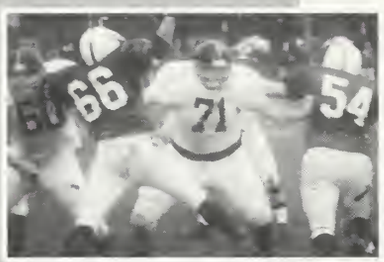
Senior Captain Laura Doyle leads the cheerleaders to another successful season.



Michael Leary (60) tackle, and Brendan Geraghty (71) guard, anchor the right side of the offensive line.

Junior Lisa Berry busts a move while dancing during half-time.

Panthers on the Prowl

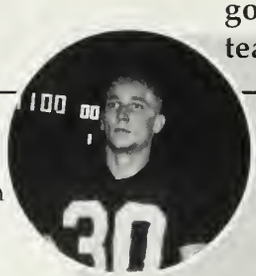
The Whitman-Hanson Panther Football Team really went out with a bang this year. In just their last two home games, the team scored a total of one hundred points. In its game against Plymouth-North, the team scored fifty-eight points, breaking a long standing school record.

This team, which was known for being young, did its job on the field and tried its hardest at all times. The Panthers did start out a little shaky, but obviously, as the season progressed the members proved the saying that "Practice makes perfect."

Senior Jim Maloney says, "The team has come a long way and I feel that we have done the best we could. The cheerleaders did a great job this year too."

The Panthers finished at 6-3-1 for the season, a great finish for a rebuilding year. The next few seasons will undoubtedly yield even greater success under the watchful eye of Coach Bob Bancroft.

What was your goal for the team this year?



Taylor McKenna
ACL All-Star
"My goal was to have a well-rounded team and a winning season."

Joe Scolly
ACL All-Star
"My goal was for us to work well as a team."

Brendan Geraghty
ACL All-Star
"My goal was to be Abington at the Thanksgiving Day game."

W-H Varsity Football Coach Bob Bancroft

Coach Bancroft says of the 1999 football season, "With a limited number of Seniors, our football team struggled early in the year. Through their leadership, our younger players matured as the season progressed. By the end of the year, our team developed into one of the better teams in Southeastern Massachusetts. The success of our football team in the future has derived its beginnings from this year's Seniors."

Cheerleading...

Yell It for the Crowd

The Whitman-Hanson Varsity Football Cheerleaders had yet another successful season this year. Aside from putting on a spectacular halftime show and cheering the football team on from the sidelines at every game, the cheerleaders retained their Atlantic Coast League Title. This competition has been held three times and the Whitman-Hanson Cheerleaders have captured the title every year. Coach Kathie Getchell says, "These girls continuously make me proud! Their hard work, dedication and spirit make my job a pleasure!" Obviously, these girls are a valuable asset to the Whitman-Hanson athletic program.

Boys Soccer ...

Super Stars

Captain Barrett Stafford is thinking of what to say to the press after the big game.

James Brine moves the ball up the field without pressure from the other team.

Thomas Craven focuses on his ball control as he goes for the goal.

On the move, Captain Ryan Perry leads the charge down the field.

Onward to the goal

Always with commitment, strength, and intensity, these boys charged for the field. The Boys Varsity Soccer Team, led by Coach Jim Barrington, worked hard and displayed much team spirit this past 1999 season.

Panther Soccer bids farewell to Seniors Barrett Stafford, Thomas Craven, and James Brine. Using their experience, they helped lead the team to some exciting victories.The team's momentum carried them to victories over DY and Pittsfield. The Panthers pulled off a 2-1 win over DY. At the annual match up against Pittsfield they took home a 1-0 victory.

The Panthers, led by Captains Barrett Stafford and Ryan Perry, finished the season with a record of 2-14-2. Junior, Brian Cassidy, was named All Star and recieved an Honorable Mention from the Patriot Ledger. Three senior foreign exchange students brought their talents to the field, achieving recognition for their outstanding abilities and interest in pursuing sports in America.

What was your most memorable moment from this past season?

Barrett Stafford
"Secretly decorating the other guys' cars after practices."

Thomas Craven
"When I hit Adam with the ball, and he had the imprint for two days."

James Brine
"Teaching Damiano how to speak English."

Girls Soccer ...

Kick it to the goal

Pulling back their hair, and lacing up their cleats, the Whitman-Hanson Girls Varsity SoccerTeam stepped onto the field, with the aspiration to have a successful season. The Girls Soccer Program has always been known for its competitiveness and its great ability to finish the season with winning records. The team kept that tradition alive by finishing the 1999 season with a record of 8-9-1.

The players showed much skill and gave 100% effort in each game in order to come out with the win. While playing, they displayed aggressiveness and always showed good sportsmanship. This past season the team shared many memories together. For example, in the game against Beaver Country Day, all the players pulled together and worked as a team and were able to achieve a 9-0 victory.

This year, Kristy Zamagni, Elizabeth Hassan, and Sara Kut would definitely be considered the All Stars. Ending the season with a great record and sharing many memories are just some of the things the senior girls on the team have taken with them and will always remember.

The girls who have more years to participate in the soccer program, including next year's Captains, Sara Kut, Elizabeth Hassan, and Lindsay Kelliher, anticipate another great season.

Stealing the ball, Kristy Zamagni forces her opponent to make a choice... Move it or lose it.

Gennie Gannon, looking to capture the ball, keeps an eye on the field in front of her.

STOP THIS! Laurie Cameron winds up for a blistering attempt to ward off her swarming opponents.

The Panthers' opponents are stopped again by our fierce powerful goalie Carly Muise.

What was your most memorable moment from this past season?

Laurie Cameron
" The ride home from a game, when we came together as a team."

Katie Jones
" Pigpiles and AirRaids during practice."

Kristy Zamagni
"Singing on the bus ride home from Sandwich."

Sophomore Bridget Black strides around the corner with ease.

The Whitman-Hanson Panthers and the Marshfield Rams start the race off neck and neck with determination written all over their faces.

Junior Laura Billings runs her strongest in the meet against Marshfield during the Cross Country Season.

Running the distance

The Girls Cross Country Team is made up of thirteen skilled and superior athletes. These girls believe that team work plays an important role in a team's season.

Before the start of a race, the girls can be heard wishing each other good luck and can be seen giving each other occasional pats on the back. Every once in a while the girls can be heard wishing the other team members good luck.

The W-H girls have had a great season, with Seniors Andrea Connolly, Elizabeth Drewniak, and Maura Murray leading the way. These fine girls have even managed to beat their long time rivals Dennis-Yarmouth, to become ACL Champs.

These girls show that if a person puts her mind to it, she can accomplish anything! It takes alot of hard work and dedication to survive days of tough grueling practices and come out on top.

How do you feel about this being your last year doing cross country?

Andrea Connolly
"This year was my first and last season of cross-country. I had a good time, and it was a great season. Good luck next year girls!"

Maura Murray
"I feel it was the most surprising. We finally beat DY-yet did not make the state meet. With a little more hard work, combined with a lot less cutting practice and next year's outstanding crop of Freshmen, W-H Cross Country should rise to not only league champs, but also state..."

ElizabethDrewniak
"Although I'm not what you'd consider a fast runner by any means, cross-country means a great deal to me; I will always remember the great times I had with the team, especially running to D.Q., beating D.Y., and having pasta fests. Good luck next year girls."

Boys Cross Country ...

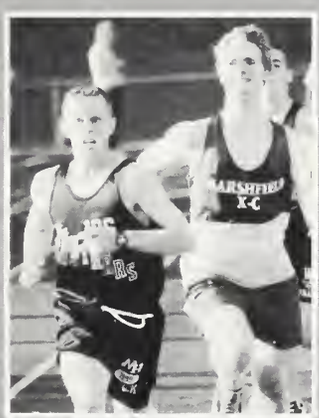
Running the distance

Year after year, the Boys Cross Country Team rises above last year's performance. This year has been no exception. This year's team, led by Senior Captains, Brendon O'Leary, Joseph List, Nicholas Flynn, and David O'Grady, had a very successful undefeated season. A season of this magnitude doesn't come easy. It takes a lot of hard work and determination. The Whitman-Hanson Boys Cross Country team is a perfect example of how hard work pays off. When asked about their best perfomance of the season, nearly everyone said that it was against Marshfield. This meet was a nailbiter; the score was close until the end, but the Panther boys managed to show Marshfield why Whitman-Hanson's Boys Cross Country Team holds the position of the 1999 ACL Champs.

Nathaniel Blauss asks himself, "Where did coach say the finish line was?"

David O'Grady thinks about why he agreed to run in this race.

The Cross Country Team waits anxiously for the gun to sound to begin the race.



Ryan Scott puts on his game face as he edges out his Marshfield opponent.

Joseph List eyes the finish line as he leaves the other runners in the dust.

What was your personal goal for the season?

Nicholas Flynn

"To help the team become the best team in the ACL."

Brendon O'Leary

"To keep our winning record going for yet another season."

Joseph List

"To become the best runner I could possibly be."

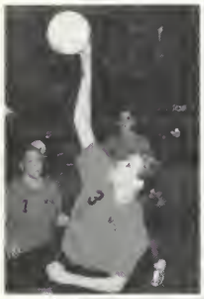
SENIORS STRIVING FOR SUCCESS



Left: Senior Tara O'Connor puts on her game face as she reaches for a kill. Her game face was successful as she finished the season with over 38 kills.

Right: Senior, Jeanne Lotti, gets down and ready to push a pass to target. Jeanne totals an outstanding 44 digs in the season.

Left: Senior, Laura Gainey, keeps on her toes as she sets up the perfect attack.

Right: Jillian Iverson soars above the net and sends the ball to the mercy of the other team.

Right: Up, up and away! Christy Nevirauskas, super setter, totals 113 successful assists.

Reaching Higher

In November of 1999, 11 seniors said goodbye to a program which began their freshman year. The Whitman-Hanson Panther Volleyball Team, led by Captains, Jeanne Lotti, Antonia Trigler, and Andrea Scalata, won more games in the 1999 season than their '96, '97 and '98 seasons combined. Their final record of 9-10 far outshines their freshman record of 0-11.

The highlight of the 1999 season, according to Tara O'Connor, was the first game against Taunton. Although W-H did not win, for the first time the team was able to rise to a more intense level of play. Antonia Trigler says her fondest memory of volleyball practice was the day the team had an aerobic workout which included squats against the wall.

Coach Elizabeth Noble is a promising attribute to the team here at Whitman-Hanson. "I couldn't have asked for a better group of kids. The seniors made my first year as head coach worthwhile. With the amount of improvement and motivation they have shown, I have no doubt that they will continue those attitudes after high school." Coach Noble's efforts were accounted for in this past season. Talented underclassmen will ensure that the volleyball team will remain a force to be reckoned with in the future.

Heather Marcos
"Having the opportunity to qualify for the state tournament."

Alicia D'Amato
"Making noise and being loud on the bus, the bench, and the court."

Kristen Clifford
"Achieving our best record in the four years that we've been playing."

Coach Noble reminds Laura Gainey that when you walk on that court "it's all business."

Special Olympics ...

Going for the Gold

On February 22nd-24th, thirteen exceptional Whitman-Hanson athletes took part in the grueling competition of the Special Olympics. The talented group did not just participate, but achieved medals and ribbons in all events including soccer, floor hockey, swimming, basketball, bowling, and track and field. Not one of these athletes walked away without a prize! They recieved recognition in the Whitman-Hanson auditorium in front of a large crowd on May 28th. The group celebrated their victories again at a Spring dance on April 1st. The effort of these Special Olympians is an example of hard work and determination which should be followed by not only athletes, but by everyone.

Katie Holbrook, Matthew Carpenter, Matthew Bold, Eric Savoy, Kellie Ward, Roger Gagnon, Jeffrey Lewis, Steven Doherty, and Daniel Khera display their school's banner with pride.

While participating in recognition day, Jeffrey Lewis blocks his ears in attempt to lessen the roaring of the crowd.

Mr. Gay and Mr. Walsh show that they are very proud of the effort given by these young men: Roger Gagnon, Steven Doherty, Jeffrey Lewis, and Daniel Khera.

Basketball...

Big Time Players

Shoot for the Hoop

The Whitman-Hanson Panther Basketball Team has put forth its greatest effort this season. The team may not have come out on top after every game, but the members have put everything they had into every game. This was a rebuilding year and a very young team. With only 2 seniors on the entire team, everyone knew this was going to be a tough year.

The high point of the season came in early February when the Panthers beat Randolph by two points. It was a hard fought battle, but thanks to Captain Donnie Sidor's game winning basket, the team managed to get its first victory. "It was a great accomplishment for us as a team, and I'm glad I contributed," said Sidor.

Coach Bill Sweeney is looking foward to next year's team. Lots of sophomores and juniors plan to return next year. He feels that all the younger kids will have plenty of varsity playing time. With a few returning underclassmen starters, the team should compete for the league championship.

What are your comments on this year's team?

Donnell Sidor: Captain

"Although our record wasn't spectacular, we had a good season. We improved every game. Hopefully, we laid the foundation for next year's team.

Stephen Mager: Captain

"My goal was for us to work well as a team. We tried hard to have a successful year, and at least we played good towards the end of the season."

Left: We really aren't sure what Captain Stephen Mager is thinking about, but it looks like he is ready to spring into action and fight for the rebound.

Cheerleading...
Cheer for the Win

It comes as no surprise to any of us here at Whitman-Hanson that the Varsity Cheerleaders had another great season. Basketball is always a little different to cheer for than football since the games are played inside. Not freezing their butts off is definitely a benefit. From their spot on the side of the court, the girls perform outstanding stunts and cheers, and the squad's halftime show is one the best around. Coaches Mrs. Getchell and Mrs. MacKenzie look forward to competition time. "We are looking to maintain our league title. The girls have worked hard, and this year looks promising." W-H spectators appreciate that the girls make themselves part of every game,that they work hard to become better cheerleaders, and that they cheer the W-H Boys Basketball Team on through both good and hard times.

What are your comments on this year's team?

Meghan Gilmore: Captain

"This may not have been the best year for the basketball team, but we still had fun cheering them on. Good luck to next year's cheerleaders."

Linsey MacKenzie: Captain

"I feel the squad has grown together, and with more hard work we will win the league title again."

Laura Doyle: Captain

"Well, this year's squad is really good and I hope we win the A.C.L. title again this year."

Christina Robillard: Captain

"This year was a great year, and it has been fun. Good luck to next year's team. I look forward to cheering in college."

Junior, Nathan Dineen, pins his opponent to the mat for a win.

Senior, Jeffrey Meehan, is congratulated by Coach Gay after winning his match-up.

Senior, Nicholas Flynn, holds his opponent for the pin, with a look of determination on his face.

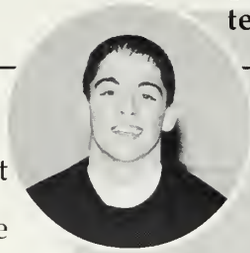
Holding for the Pin

"Though having a record of 12-9, what keeps the team motivated and hard-working is self-motivation and the desire for teammates to support each other," commented Coach Robert Gay.

The Whitman-Hanson Panther Wrestling Team has worked very hard over the previous years, as well as this season to achieve victory, in both meets and tournaments. Unfortunately, this year was different, however, because most of the team consisted of second or first year sophomores.Under the leadership of their coaches and captains, the young team was able to end this season with a decent record and a third place finish in Division II South Sectionals, beating eleven other teams.

Throughout the season, the Panthers faced many difficult opponents. All of Whitman-Hanson's Varsity wrestlers have helped the team this season and have competed valiantly, both at home and away.

What was your goal for the team this year?



Jeffrey Meehan
Varsity Captain
"My goal was to win every match I wrestled in."

Nicholas Flynn
Varsity Captain
"Our goal was to put it together, since we had a lot of younger people on this year's team, and make something of this season."

Patrick Tobin

Girls Basketball...

Score for the Victory

The Whitman-Hanson Girls Basketball Team has overcome many challenges that they have faced, such as the pressure to stay number one. The Basketball Team's record was 14-1, with one loss against Duxbury, before heading into the state tournament. The girls did well this season, playing hard games against Marshfield and Duxbury. The team worked well and hard together. "The players were very successful and tried to become more successful with hard work. Their desire to be the best kept them motivated. They all enjoy playing the game and getting better" said Head Coach, Jim Daley.

Junior, Cortney Kelly, helps out her teammates, by indicating their ideal positions to help her get rid of the ball.

Elizabeth Hassan is so good, she can catch the ball and score with her eyes closed.

Jessica Krajewski strides up to the basket to work on her lay-ups.

Laura Rideout attempts to catch the ball, so she can score a three-pointer.

Elizabeth Salamone shoots lay-ups, to help herself warm up before the game.

Elizabeth Salamone, Pamela Olsen, Cortney Kelly, and Elizabeth Hassan put their intimidation faces on before the game.

Girls 2000 Basketball Seniors Jeanne Lotti(Capt.) and Katie Jones

Are you satisfied with your accomplishments thus far and what can the team do to improve next year?

Jeanne Lotti

"Yes, I am satisfied , but there is still a lot more to be accomplished. If everyone puts in enough practice during the summer, then next year will be a very good team."

Katie Jones

"Yes, we did really well. We qualified for the tournament. If the team works harder, then they will be even better."

Coach Daley

"Yes, I was satisfied, but next year I have to figure out a way to replace Jeanne Lotti. She is a great player and will be hard to replace."

Panthers on the Run

The Whitman-Hanson Men's Track Team had another very succesful season winning its fifth consecutive league championship and once again finishing undefeated. The Panthers were led by Captains, Taylor McKenna, Brendan Geraghty,and Joe List, as well as 12 other seniors. However, the real leaders of the team were Coach Kevin Black and Coach Rick Rodman.

It was Coach Black's eighth championship in ten years as the coach of the indoor track team. On the other hand it was Coach Rodman's first season as indoor track coach here at Whitman-Hanson. "I think that Coach Rodman did an excellent job in his first season as part of this program. He was a key ingredient in our winning formula this year," says senior Co-Captain Joe List.

The 1999-00 season was a record-breaking year. In fact, the team shattered 13 school records this season, which is a record in it self."It was a memorable season" says Coach Black.

What made the team so succesful this season?

Mike Leary "Coach Black, and Coach Rodman have brought us so far this year."

Brendon O'Leary "I believe our success is due to the leadership of the seniors."

Tim Rollins "We had many underclassmen step it up in crucial situations for us this season."

Mission Accomplished...

Early in the morning of December 1st, 1996, the graduating seniors of 1999 stepped out onto the frigid ice of Rockland Rink for the first time. Throughout these last four years, some would continue on with the program, there would be some new additions, and some would not cut it.

The six seniors that lasted, Scott Wisdom, Michael Hall, Bryan Moran, Paul Pellegrini, Ryan Scott, and John Murphy, have slowly been working to gain respect in the ACL over their last four years. With a record of 12-4-4, the team has finally reached its goal of playing in the Division II State Tournament in its final year. Although it took four years to get there, Senior Captain Scott Wisdom says, "It was worth the wait."

This past year the Varsity roster was comprised of six seniors, five juniors, four sophomores, and seven freshmen. "We are a young team with good leadership, which works hard, day in and day out. We have finally pulled together as a team", says Senior Michael Hall.

With seven freshmen and four sophomores playing at the Varsity level, Whitman-Hanson Hockey has finally been awakened. This past year's team was only a glimpse of what the future holds.

Scott Wisdom
"We've put it all together, from the Seniors down through the Freshmen."

Steve Cappellini
"I attribute our team's success to our unmatched dedication and perserverance."

Ryan Scott
"The fact that we have finally all come together as a team has brought us to where we are."

Dance Team

Going for the Gold.

The Girls Dance Team left its mark on Whitman-Hanson this year by being the first ance team in school history. These seniors chose to fight last year for a dance team at the igh school division and they got it. Throughout the second year, student requests for iore dance productions were being heard more and more. For the first time, the dance am performed at the Thanksgiving Day Rally, several football half-time shows, and iany competitions. The 1999 Dance Team had a spirited season. These dancers won two d place trophies and a first place at the Warwick Dance Invitational. The dance team will id farewell to eight graduating seniors. The seniors wish the remaining team members ie best of luck in the years to come. The dance team will be sure to keep spirit and Panther ride High.

The Whitman-Hanson Dance Team comes together before taking the mat at the Emmanuel Dance Competition held at Northeastern University.

Senior Dancers will surely miss the successful dance team they started in 1998 at the high school, when they graduate in 2000.

Showing off flexibility and talent, these girls can't wait for their performance at the Thanksgiving Day Rally.

Demonstrating synchronization and good choreography, a superb routine was put on during the half-time show at the Marshfield Football Game.

Andrea Scalata, Editor,
W-H Yearbook 2000

Our years here at W-H are almost over. But, the memories that have been created are forever lasting. Some may be insignificant; others may be unforgettable. Whatever, they were moments to be captured. As we go our separate ways, we must never lose track of our times spent at Whitman-Hanson. These times have provided the stepping stone to future endeavors and challenges in life.

This yearbook has taken great dedication, not only by Mrs. Bergquist and myself, but also by every person who has contributed his free time and creative mind to this project. I would like to thank everyone who contributed to this project. This book is truly such an accomplishment, and we should be proud of ourselves and our efforts.

It is my priviledge as Editor of the Whitman-Hanson 2000 Yearbook to let others know how impressed I have become with the final product. A yearbook is not a small project. It entails lots of training about what goes into making a good yearbook and many long hours, some trailing on throughout the night. Along with the creation of the concept of the book, hours were spent evaluating many rolls of film, some by ourselves and others by professional photographers, selecting just the right pictures, writing captions, doing layouts, working on the computer, and finally feeling that sense of relief when the pages were finally sent off to the publishing company.

Realizing how many memories this book will stir up and the many hours we will spend reminiscing about these memories makes the amount of time and effort we all put into making this 2000 yearbook special is worthwhile.

Finally, to the Class of 2000, GOOD LUCK with everything life throws your way in the future. Always try to make all of life's adventures "Once in a Lifetime" events.

WHITMAN-HANSON REGIONAL H.S. TOP TEN:
1st Row: Kristen Clifford, Salutatorian; Elizabeth Drewniak, Valedictorian; 2nd Row: Brian Black (3); Laura Gainey (4); Maura Murray (5); Elizabeth Spencer (6); 3rd Row: Sarah Clemons (7); Nathaniel Blauss (8); Rachel Kelly (9); Bryan Moran (10).

Above: The day: June 3, 2000. The time: 11:00 a.m. The place: Whitman-Hanson Regional High School Dennis M. O'Brien Athletic Field. The occasion: GRADUATION! Always an emotional moment, the processional was led by: Class President, Scott Wisdom; Class Secretary, Marlana Weber; President of Student Council, Gabrielle Lozeau; and Brian Black, one of W-H's top ten students.
Within a matter of two hours, Whitman-Hanson students walked away from the past and into the future of their new lives. According to Class President Scott Wisdom, the students are no longer on autopilot but are on their own to determine their own course of action.

Mrs. Beth Anderson, W-H's Teacher of the Millennium Year, receives red roses from Senior Class Officers: Antonia Trigler, Vice-President, Marlana Weber, Secretary; Scott Wisdom, President; Elizabeth Drewniak, Treasurer.

"It was a great prom! Lombardo's had nothing but good things to say about the behavior of W-H's seniors."

Mr. James MacDonald,
Senior Class Advisor

senior prom ...

May 25, 2000

The date: May 25, 2000. A Once in a Lifetime event... A much anticipated night: The Senior Prom. The place: Lombardo's in Randolph.

The sun waited until the last minute to show itself off. Beauties prepared for the evening by spritzing hair, prepping their nails, donning their spectacular dresses, and making sure the men were as fashionable as they were. The debonair men picked up tuxes, flowers, and finally their dates, as they made sure every single thing was perfect for the big night.

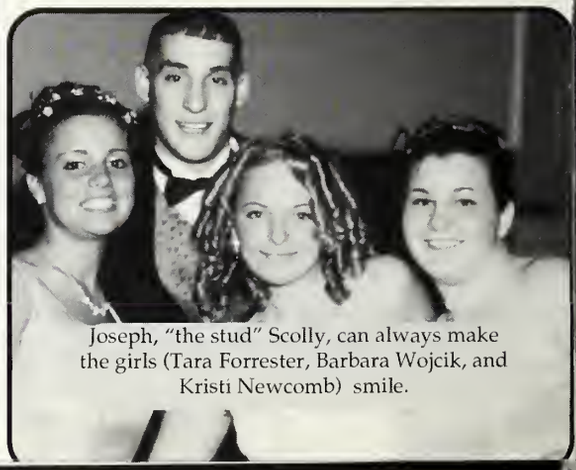
The party began with the traditional pre-prom photographs at the seniors' houses. The carpet was rolled out for the seniors as they arrived with much anticipation at Lombardo's. More photos, not enough dancing time, and a lot of fun combined to make a "Once in a Lifetime Event."

What's a prom without dinner? Jacob Dugas and Daniel McKinley (left) concentrate on the chicken entree ... while James Maloney and Nicholas Altieri sample the cookies. Word has it that the cookies didn't even begin to compare to W-H's very own Otis cookies.

Why, that is Charlie Higgins. Another day ... another hair color.

Friends, Amy Corrigan and Megan Carney, get "Jiggy with it" as Amy asks Megan, "Isn't that the dress that Jasmine wore in Aladdin?"

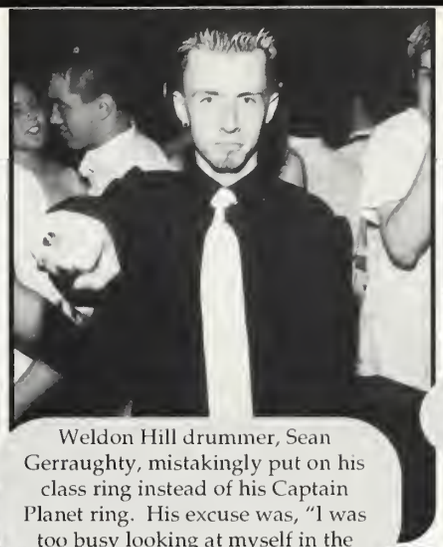
W-H Yearbook 2000 Editor, Andrea Scalata, Amy Corrigan, Michele Manna, Danyel Burke, and Jillian Iverson are enthused that their Senior Prom is a blast, but they are sad to move on to a different life after high school.



Joseph, "the stud" Scolly, can always make the girls (Tara Forrester, Barbara Wojcik, and Kristi Newcomb) smile.

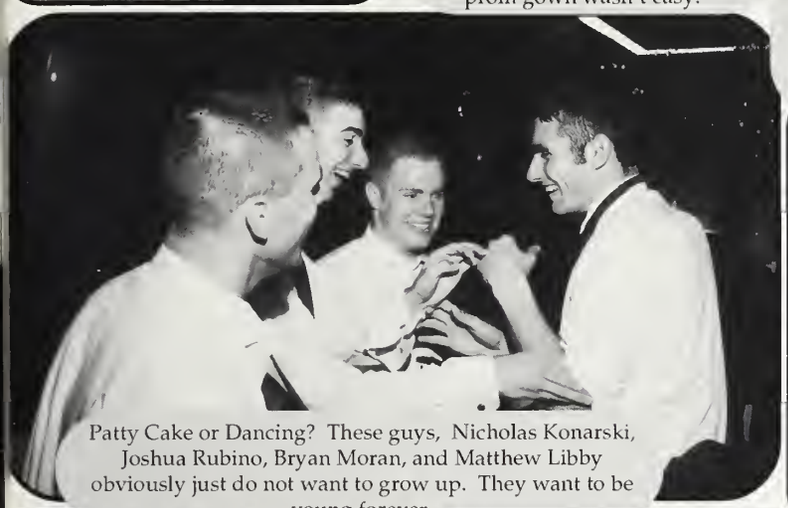
Tara O'Connor enthusiastically serenades Nicole Kairis, her good friend for many years.

Katie Sances (adorned in a gold Academy Award style dress) tells Kimberly Howe that selecting a prom gown wasn't easy.

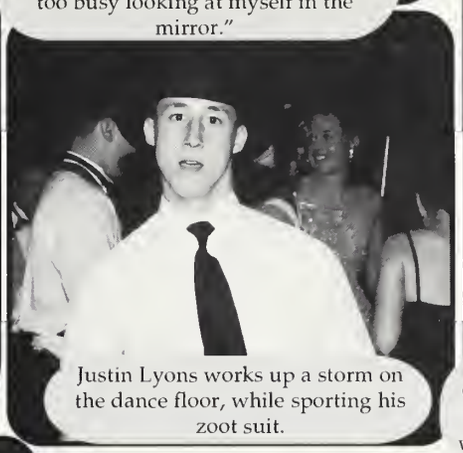


Weldon Hill drummer, Sean Gerraughty, mistakingly put on his class ring instead of his Captain Planet ring. His excuse was, "I was too busy looking at myself in the mirror."

Kristen Showstead and Kevin Young, having dated for 7 years, are W-H's couple of the year.



Patty Cake or Dancing? These guys, Nicholas Konarski, Joshua Rubino, Bryan Moran, and Matthew Libby obviously just do not want to grow up. They want to be young forever.



Justin Lyons works up a storm on the dance floor, while sporting his zoot suit.

Fabien Hans (Belgium) and Diana Gil (Colombia) will have a difficult time separating from each other when they return to their respective countries.

These three fashionable seniors, Megan Carney, Kirsty Hall, and Cheyenne Corliss make a fashion statement ... whether being admired from the front or the back.

Are those sweet nothings that guy is whispering into Karen Spano's ear? Whatever ... she looks pretty happy!

Genevieve Gannon and Christopher Gay share affectionate emotions.

Stephanie Durante, Melissa Smith, Kristy Myers, and Kristine Williams smile, wishing that the dancing hours were never ending.

The table dancing demonstration by Anna-Marie Pearson is nothing out of the ordinary for this zany senior.

Scott Wisdom and Meghan Gilmore look ready for Hollywood ... rather than Northeastern and Northeastern ... ah! both of them? same college?

After Brendan Geraghty inhales his dinner, long time friend Linsey MacKenzie pats him on the shoulder and tells him that he's great.

As the Boston Harbor Cruise concluded, seniors gathered on deck to give one last cheer.

"The Senior Banquet was a night filled with fun, excitement, and memories of the seniors' high school years."

Ms. Marianne MacCormick

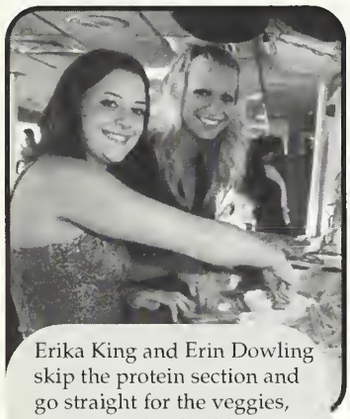
senior banquet...

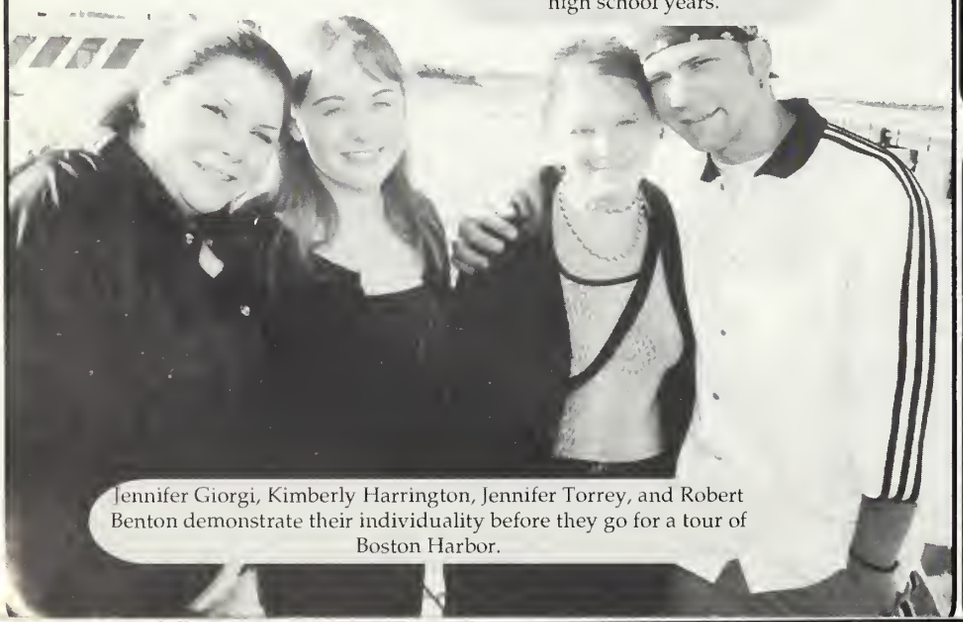
The night: May 30, 2000. The place: A Massachusetts Baylines Boat. The event: The Whitman-Hanson Senior Banquet. The night went so smoothly; everything was perfect. The night was flawless; the sky was gorgeous. The atmosphere was nautical; the water was calm. The DJ played music hip to the entire gang; the food was consumed quickly so that everyone could get on with the more important events like dancing. Who will forget the closeness of the group as people danced with not only dates but their friends and classmates; who will forget the chill of the air which was warded off by the warmth of the dancing bodies; who will forget the Boston Skyline; who will forget the train of seniors which danced throughout the boat; who will forget the few people who became acquainted with sea sickness at the end of the night; who will forget that the night was not over when the boat docked in Hingham Harbor, as everyone headed off to another party with their own group of friends? No one will forget W-H's Class of 2000 Senior Banquet!



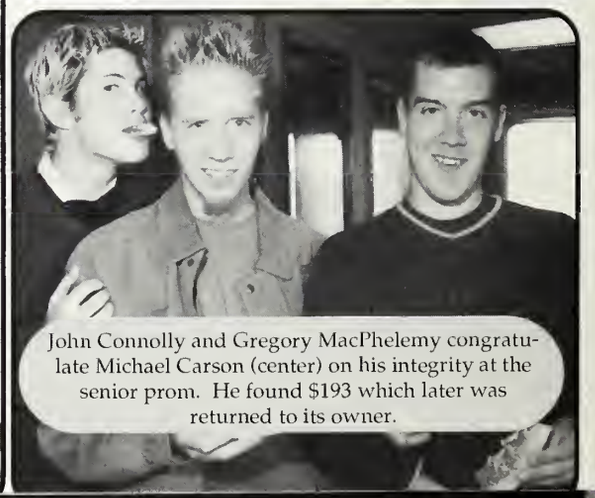
Erika King and Erin Dowling skip the protein section and go straight for the veggies, because eating healthy is their motto.

Jennifer Haley, Courtney Coombs, Kristen Wisdom, Andrea Ahearn, Erin Devine, and Maura Murray don't seem hungry; they are too busy looking out over the harbor reflecting upon their high school years.

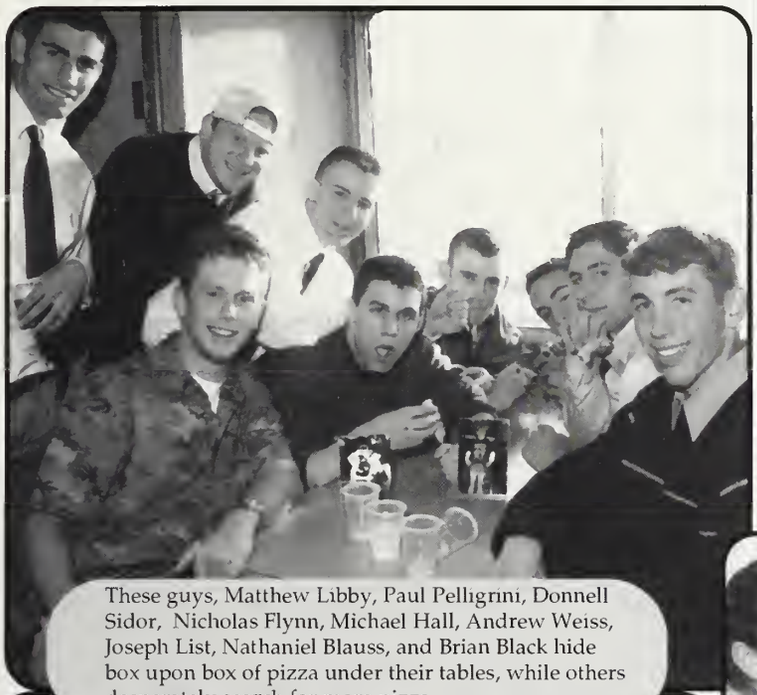
Amy Mulligan and Kimberly Jarrett take their pizza and nibble on it bit by bit. Gee, they sure look like a Papa Gino's advertisement.



Jennifer Giorgi, Kimberly Harrington, Jennifer Torrey, and Robert Benton demonstrate their individuality before they go for a tour of Boston Harbor.



John Connolly and Gregory MacPhelemy congratulate Michael Carson (center) on his integrity at the senior prom. He found $193 which later was returned to its owner.



These guys, Matthew Libby, Paul Pelligrini, Donnell Sidor, Nicholas Flynn, Michael Hall, Andrew Weiss, Joseph List, Nathaniel Blauss, and Brian Black hide box upon box of pizza under their tables, while others desperately search for more pizza.

Steven Holbrook, Anna Pearson, and Brian Fountaine get up to get down at their Senior Banquet.

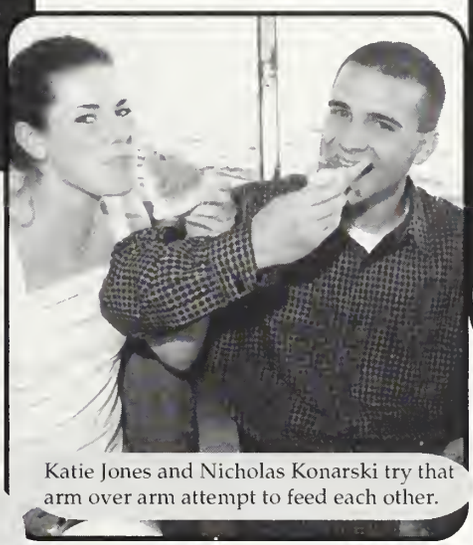
Kymberlee Vincent and David Gardner get their groove on and dance the night away.

James Brine and Barrett Stafford hang back in style.

Laura Schmit, Michael Leary, David Smith, and Amy DeCoste gaze forward with anticipation. May 30th had romance in the air.



Katie Jones and Nicholas Konarski try that arm over arm attempt to feed each other.

Kathryn McDonald and Matthew Tonello are ... well ... just happy!

Lisa MacLeod and Amanda Shine are happy that the class dues paid for the Senior Banquet.

Kristy Zamagni, Melissa Howard, and Melissa Mandeville smile on command for the photographer

Sarah Clemons, Allison Counter, and Carolyn Keeman gather together as the sun goes down behind the City of Boston.

Michael Savage and Kristen McQuarrie hug? or dance? to the beats of DJ Mike Amado.

The Parent Advisory Council is responsible for decorating and organizing the Senior Breakfast. This group of seniors definitely looks very heart broken knowing that graduation is a few days away.

"Are you sure we have enough ... and the right?... pictures?"

senior breakfast ... field day ...

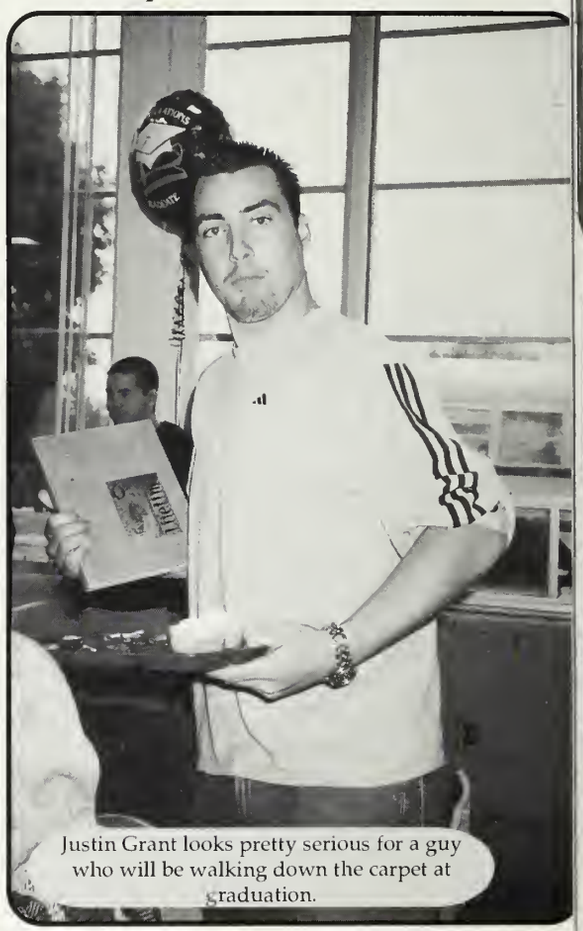
spellman essay contest ...

independent drama club presentation ...

Never a quiet moment at Whitman-Hanson! The end of the year brings with it activities not only for the seniors but also for the school in general. Of course, the Senior Breakfast is eagerly anticipated by the seniors. A tradition started by the Parent Advisory Council, the Senior Breakfast is bubbles, bacon, panther heads, and yearbook signing. In preparation for graduation, there is the usual passing out of caps and gowns and of course, the Senior Picnic and Field Day is the culminating event after the last graduation rehearsal. The annual Spellman Essay Contest and the Independent Drama Presentation are two special events that contribute to ... never a quiet moment at W-H.

Lisa MacLeod, Heather Kelcourse, and Kristine Crean all just sit back and remember all the great memories they've had at Whitman-Hanson.

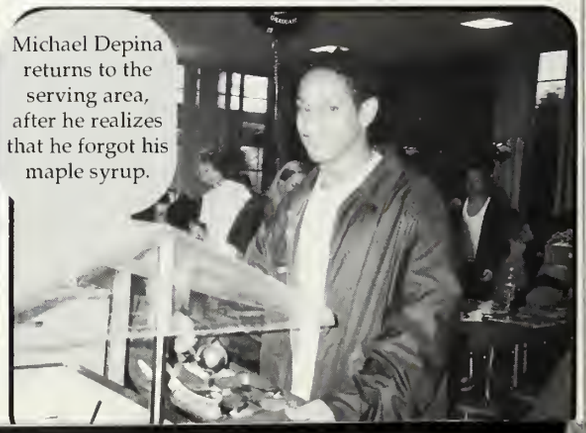
During the Senior Breakfast, Daniel McKinley celebrates his birthday. That water blaster will be perfect for Senior field day.



Justin Grant looks pretty serious for a guy who will be walking down the carpet at graduation.

Kristy Newcomb, Laurie Cameron, and Kristen McQuarrie are just entering the Senior Breakfast. They are overwhelmed by the wonderful aroma of the food.

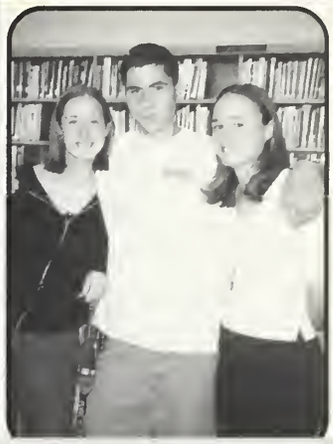
Patties, Patties, Egg Patties, Sausage Patties...Andrea Ahearn, Kristen Wisdom, Courtney Coombs, and Jennifer Haley ponder where the cafe found all the patties.



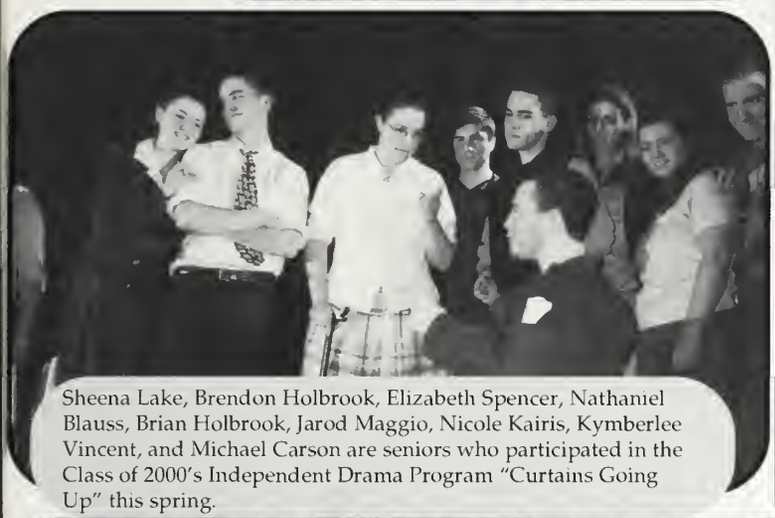
Michael Depina returns to the serving area, after he realizes that he forgot his maple syrup.

Laura Ciccolo, Julie Burke, Karen Spano, and Kathy Pratt are getting closer to graduation as they receive their caps and gowns at the graduation rehearsal.

Sebastian Peutat, Raphael Carrillo, Livia Fukuda, and Damiano Borgogno, W-H's foreign exchange students, are counting down the days to graduation and until they get to go home.



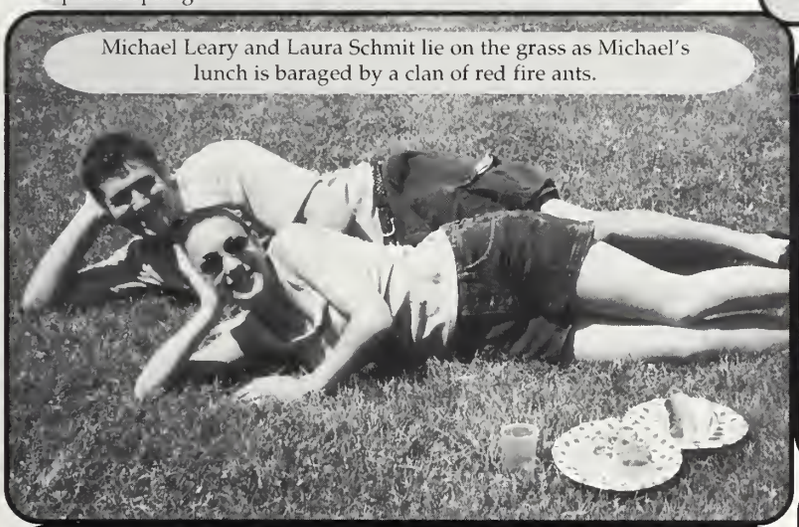
Winners of the annual Spellman Essay Contest and their topics: 1st place: Andrea Ahearn - Conrad's Heart of Darkness; 2nd place: Nathaniel Blauss - Beowulf - The Hero; 3rd place: Leanne Clancy -Tennessee Williams - Illusion and Reality



Sheena Lake, Brendon Holbrook, Elizabeth Spencer, Nathaniel Blauss, Brian Holbrook, Jarod Maggio, Nicole Kairis, Kymberlee Vincent, and Michael Carson are seniors who participated in the Class of 2000's Independent Drama Program "Curtains Going Up" this spring.

Derek Manna has an awkward smirk on his face because he knows that he snagged an extra hot dog.

Tara Forrester and Barbara Wojcik have a contest to see who can eat the most hot dogs in 5 minutes, as Thomas McLaughlin gives his approval of this event.



Michael Leary and Laura Schmit lie on the grass as Michael's lunch is baraged by a clan of red fire ants.

Jennifer Torrey, Michelle Cullinan, and Amy Calcagno are well... just contented at the Senior Picnic.

Farewell, W-H! Holding back tears, Kimberly Hammond reminisces about all the wonderful times she has had at W-H.

These picnic-goers gather for a photo while they enjoy their complimentary beverages.

Their next stop - off to college! Kristy Zamagni, Jessica Shaughnessy, and Nicole Vayo have special post high school plans.

W-H seniors wait patiently for their burgers and hot dogs.

Stephen Lanza, President of the Class of 2001, and Mark Gredler, V-P of the Class of 2001, lead the graduating Class of 2000 a few steps closer to the reality of being graduates.

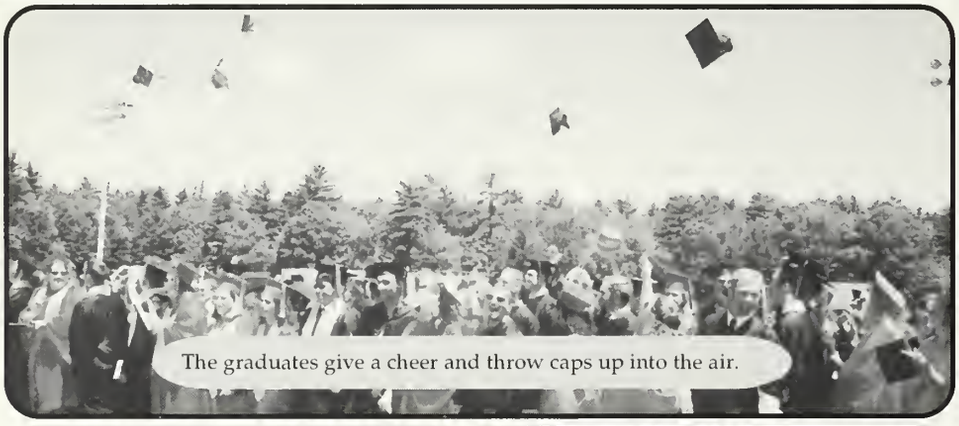
The W-H band members, including graduating seniors, play On Eagles Wings. They are sad as this is their last performance with the band.

graduation...

June 3, 2000

Graduation was perfect ... the day was sunny; the students were enthusiastic; and the program was exceptional. Clothespins kept the music in place, as the band played "Pomp and Circumstance" for the senior processional. Speakers spoke, awards were awarded, diplomas were handed out .. all accomplished in style. Noisemakers, cheering, cameras flashing, and an enthusiastic senior jumping on his chair at the end of the ceremony ... were examples of the sheer jubilation the audience and the participants experienced. Mr. Robert Gay, W-H Principal, addressed the 232 students of the Class of 2000, "...you have the ability and talent to become shining lights for all of those you will meet in the months and years ahead. Liz spoke of 'success' - may all of you find your own successes."

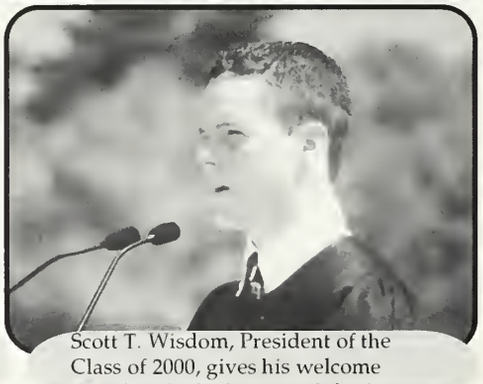
Mr. Robert Gay
W-H Principal



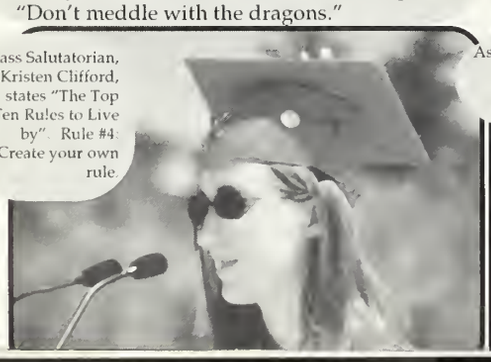
The graduates give a cheer and throw caps up into the air.

Elizabeth Drewniak, Valedictorian, Treasurer of the Class of 2000, gives her speech "What Is Success?" and later makes the presentation of the class gift, a scholarship for the next five years.

Teacher of the Year, Mrs. Beth Anderson, wisely advises her students with a metaphor, "Don't meddle with the dragons."



Scott T. Wisdom, President of the Class of 2000, gives his welcome speech as he looks toward the future.

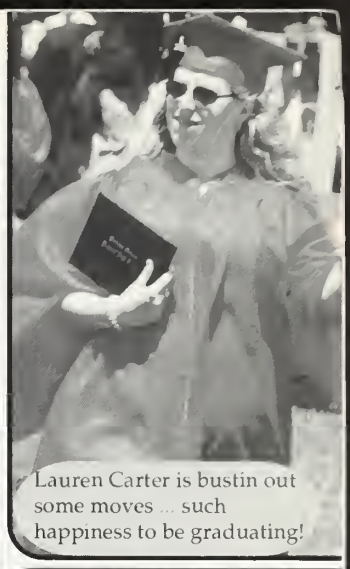


Class Salutatorian, Kristen Clifford, states "The Top Ten Rules to Live by". Rule #4: Create your own rule.

As a member of the W-H Chorus, Laura Schmit proudly sings "The National Anthem".

Kymberlee Vincent and Tara Forrester show their respect by signing On Eagles Wings.

W-H Superintendent of Schools, Irene Sherry Kaplan, officially presents the Class of 2000.



Lauren Carter is bustin out some moves ... such happiness to be graduating!

Jessie Rust, Cara Happnie, Melissa Long, and Lisa Lankiewicz are overwhelmed with this graduation day which has finally come! The years of hard work have definitely paid off!

Although gleaming with excitement, Annika Feldman knows her return to Germany is inevitable.

Vanessa Sanborn is a NHS student, as indicated by her sash, she also is in the top 10% of her graduating class.

Laura Barry smiles thinking of her accomplishments at W-H.

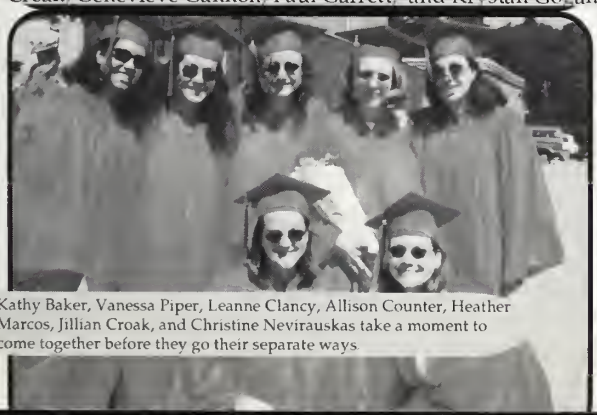
James Harriman will be entering the United States Air Force.

Jacob Dugas knows he is moving on to bigger and better things.

Peter Lynch and Chris Walker look forward to the future. Chris will be attending Westfield State College.

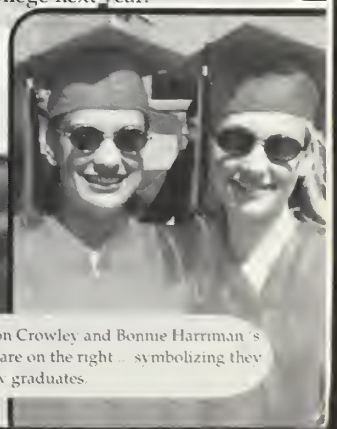
Meredith Alden has just received her diploma and is looking torward to attending Massasoit Community College next year.

Julianne Oberle with friend Nicole Vayo take a quick breather after graduation. Julianne wrote the Class Ode along with friends Kristine Crean, Genevieve Gannon, Paul Garrett, and Krystan Govan.



Kathy Baker, Vanessa Piper, Leanne Clancy, Allison Counter, Heather Marcos, Jillian Croak, and Christine Nevirauskas take a moment to come together before they go their separate ways.

Justin Dooley walks with pride because he will be attending Suffolk University.



Shannon Crowley and Bonnie Harriman 's tassels are on the right ... symbolizing they are now graduates.

Baseball...

Scoring early and often....

The Whitman-Hanson Panther Baseball Team won some and lost some this year. The ball players were always hustling and always seemed to be in each and every game, well most of them anyway. The team was made up of 8 Seniors, 4 Juniors, and 4 Sophomores for most of the season. Last year's squad had 10 Seniors.

In early May the Panthers got their first league win against Duxbury. It was a hard fought battle, but thanks to Senior pitcher Steve Holbrook, the team managed to get its first victory. Holbrook held the Green Dragons to 3 runs on 6 hits in 6 and 1/3 innings. The go-ahead and eventual game winning run came when Donnie Sidor scored, after stealing two bases, on Mark Hutchings' grounder up the middle. Senior Scott Wisdom saved the game in the bottom of the ninth with a beautiful throw to third to nail a Dragon base-runner.

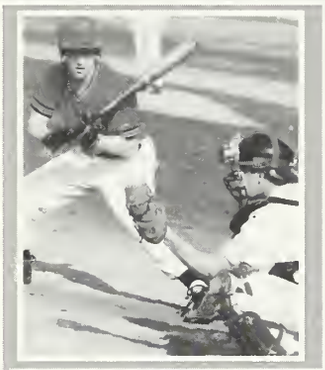
Although this year's team didn't win enough league games to finish in first place, the ball players didn't finish in last either. With ten wins the boys will qualify for the post-season. The Panthers hope to make it to the Division 1 State tournament this year for the 5th straight year. If the team wins its last few games and goes into the tourney on a winning streak, the members could go deep into the tournament.

What are your comments on this year's team?

Coach Pat Forbes:
This year's team had a unique mix of players from all three classes (Sophomore, Junior, and Senior). "The most difficult task this season was trying to blend all three classes and developing a personality as a team." He added that the guys were hard-working and always hustled. Although we had some ups and downs, we hope to make tournament this year. Since we aren't in a position to win the ACL, it is our goal to have a winning season.

Players who perform in the clutch

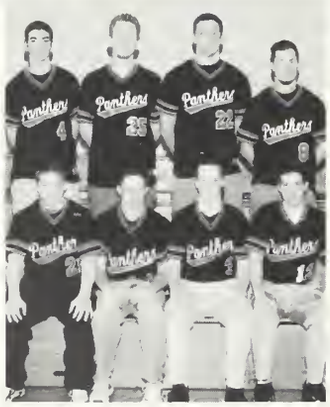
Below: Jim Maloney shows off his master hitting skills by watching a strike go by. As a Senior, he was one the better hitters on the Panther team.



Left: Senior Scott Wisdom looks at a pretty good pitch. Wisdom usually has a good eye, but he's thinking, "Why didn't I swing at that pitch?"

Left: Senior Third Baseman, Steve Holbrook, shows off how to throw out a guy at first base. Look at that form on the follow-thru.

Above: Joshua Rubino, Senior, leans out of the way of the inside pitch. It looks like the pitcher was throwing some chin music to back Josh off the plate.



Varsity Baseball Seniors: 1st Row: J. Maloney, T. Craven, S. Wisdom, D. Smith; 2nd Row: J. Rubino, D. Sidor, M. Savage, S. Holbrook.

When it comes to success, every Panther contributes.

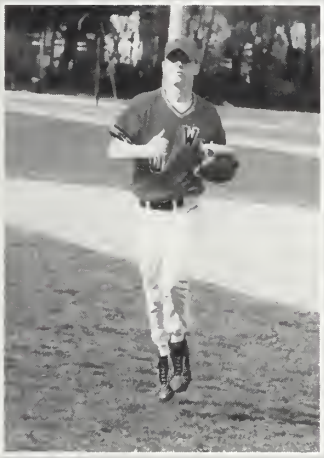
Left: Junior Jesse Power swings and hits a shot up the middle. This is Jesse's second year as the varsity shortstop; next year he'll be a standout player for the Panthers.

Above: Scott Wisdom delivers one of his many fastballs with his face of terror. Then again, anyone would look like that if he threw as many pitches as Scott does.



Far Left: Steven Foster trots in after he makes the final out of the inning. He is thinking to himself, "It's my turn to get up and show off my offensive skills."

Left: Sophomore Sean Conover certainly looks sure of himself on this pop-up. Well, judging from his face, maybe not. Luckily, he made the play.

Above: In between innings, the Panthers meet at the mound to talk about what is going on after the game and give pitcher Scott Wisdom a pep talk.

What are your plans for next year both educationally and athletically?

Scott Wisdom: Centerfield/ Pitcher

"I will be attending Northeastern in the fall, where I will be majoring in English and also playing baseball at whatever level possible ."

James Maloney: Second Base

"After I graduate, I'm going to Massasoit for 2 years. I am looking forward to playing baseball there and will hopefully move on after that."

Steven Holbrook: Third Base/ Pitcher

"Next year I'm going to Quinnipiac University in Hamden, CT. I plan on playing baseball there. Tryouts are on Labor Day weekend."

The 2000 Whitman-Hanson Softball Team came back this year with a young team. The team consists of 1 Senior, 11 Juniors, and 3 Sophomores. Coming in this year with a new coach (Coach Sandra Lombardi) and a league championship under their belts from the 1999 season, the Pantherettes were looking like a strong team.

Kristen Wisdom, a captain as well as the only senior, says, "We have a great team this year. I think we are going to manage pretty well." "The team's new coach, Sandra Lombardi, has worked well with the team and has taught us alot. The coach came this year not knowing anyone, and she has developed close bonds with the team," says Carly Muise, W-H's Co-Captain.

This year with a tough schedule and a championship to defend, The Whitman-Hanson Varsity Softball Team with seven games into the season is undefeated. The highlight of the season was the game against Sandwich which gave the team its first place in the Atlantic Coast League.

2000 Softball Captains: Kristen Wisdom and Carly Muise.

These girls inspired the '00 Softball Team into a winning season with their enthusiasm and leadership.

"What was your most unforgettable memory of the 2000 season?"

Kristen Wisdom
"The bus rides to the away games and all the fun we had on them."

Carly Muise
"When we played a great game and beat Duxbury."

Jenni Brooks
"When I broke my hand in the first game of the season."

Coach Sandra Lombardi says, "This team works hard to accomplish its goals. I think we will have a good season this year."

What was your personal goal for this season?

Laura Rideout
"To hit the ball the best I can and score a few runs."

Jenna Doherty
"To do the best I can and pitch as well as I can."

Lindsey Nash
"To win and have fun while doing it."

Big Time Athletes

The "Record Breaking" Girls Track Team won its third ACL Championship in a row. The Panthers are undefeated in the league under Head Coach Murtaugh.

Whitman-Hanson out ran D-Y in the most competitive meet this season with a final score of 87-41. The team continued its torrid pace by destroying the Duxbury Dragons 120 to 16.

Jeanne Lotti broke her own Discus Record at 119 feet. Courtney Kelly broke the 200 meter school record which was set in 1974, with a time of 26.3. Laura Billings also broke her own Triple Jump record. Liz Hassan broke the high and low hurdles record; Laura Billings, Cortney Kelly, Bridget Anderson, and Liz Hassan broke the 4x400 meter relay.

The girls' win against the powerhouse Reading Team at the Andover Relays was significant, as it provided the W-H Team a chance to win the Class B Championships.

The Girls Track Team further displayed their league dominance with a team score of 201 1/2 points at the ACL Meet, including 9 first place finishes. The Girls 52 1/2 points at the Class B Meet set a school record for points scored as well as the highest finish in school history, 2nd place. Class B Champs included Jeanne Lotti in the Shot Put and Discus and Liz Hassan in the 300 hurdles, both of whom went on to place at the All State Meet.

The girls really came out on top! Best of luck to the graduating SENIORS!

What advice would you give to upcoming Track members?

Genevieve Gannon: Captain
"Get involved and experience the excitement of being part of a winning team."

Maura Murray: Captain
"Work hard; train early before the season begins; keep a constant positive attitude and remember to always appreciate your team members."

Jeanne Lotti: Captain
"Work hard, have fun and practice your hurdle patrol abilities."

Kristy Zamagni: Captain
"Hard work will pay off; always give 110%."

Spring Track...

Running and Throwing for Distance

The Men's Spring Track and Field Team won its eleventh consecutive league championship, under the direction of Head Coach Kevin Black. The Panthers started off the new millennium the same as they ended the last one, dominating the league again. The Panthers have not lost a league meet since 1989.

Led by Captains Matt Libby, David O'Grady, Nick Flynn and Joe List, and Assistant Coaches Sean Clifford and John Rozen, no team in the league could even compete with the Panthers. The Panthers took their success well beyond the Atlantic Coast League competition. They had many athletes place in the Class B Relays, a series of competitive events, held this year at W-H. Also, many W-H track stars won places in the Class B Championship Competition at Plymouth South. The W-H Panthers also were a strong force in the State Competition at Norwell. "It was another incredible year for the Track Team; I look forward to many more," says Coach Black.

Far Left: Junior Tony Generous soars to victory in the long jump against Plymouth North; also a talented hurdler, Generous can be counted on to gain five points for a first place win.

Left: Junior Brian Cassidy can only laugh at Whitman-Hanson's league domination. As well as running in the 4X100 relay, Brian is the leading javelin and discus thrower.

Far Left: Senior Michael Depina gives some love to the crowd after throwing the discus; Mike has brought forth some good leadership this year.

Left: Senior Brendon O'Leary leads sophomore Peter Smallcomb to the finish line. These two runners are two of the best runners in the mile and two mile.

BOYS SPRING TRACK: 1st Row: D. O'Grady, N. Flynn, M. Libby, J. List; 2nd Row: B. Geraghty, B. O'Leary, J. McGovern, R. Scott, S. Peutat, A. Weiss, N. Blauss, C. Gay, B. Black, A. Minicucci, M. To what did you attribute the team's sucess?

Nicholas Flynn: Captain

"I credit our terrific coaching staff"

Matthew Libby: Captain

"The terrific leadership of our Seniors."

Joe List: Captain

"The work of our under-classmen"

David O'Grady: Captain

"I attribute our hard work and that's all."

Boys/Girls Tennis...

The good; the bad; and the Tennis Team.

Left: Senior, Jarod Maggio, shows great poise as he can stand on one foot and hit the ball at the same time.

Right: Junior, Mark Gredler, thinks he might tip over after he hit the ball extremely hard.

Right: Freshman, Joseph Rego, sees that the tennis ball is frozen in mid-air, so he better take his time and make a good shot.

Left: Sophomore, Matthew Corrigan, looks bored, as his opponent is no competition for Matt's tremendous tennis skills.

Hitting Harder...

This year's 2000 Tennis Team was led by Coach Sandra Allan who held the team together through thick and thin. The team faced a tedious lengthy schedule, one week with four games. The year was basically a rebuilding year due to lack of experience; of the seven starting players five were not members of the team last year.

Although only a Sophomore, Captain Joseph Brogna led the team at first singles, as friend Timothy McRorie followed in his footsteps at second singles. The rest of the team was made up of only three Seniors, including Jarod Maggio and Foreign Exchange Students Benoit Devolder and Fabien Hans. The lone Junior on the team, Mark Gredler, played alongside Maggio at the second doubles slot, as the first doubles pair consisted of Sophomores Christopher Clark and Andrew Gunnison.

The year ended with few victories, but the team experienced a sense of togetherness. With many rising stars the team looks forward to a more successful 2001 season.

What would you change about this year's team?

Jarod Maggio
I would probably change the tedious schedule, as I could use more resting time.

Timothy McRorie
I would change the kids that I was playing. I'd make them not so good.

Benoit Devolder
I would change how the weather affected the play, unlike it does back in Belgium.

Above: Senior, Foreign Exchange Students, Benoit Devolder and Fabien Hans, remain friends on the court, as they do back in Belgium.

Effort and Spirit Help Tennis Teams Achieve Their Goals

The spirited members of the 2000 Girls Tennis Team picked up where they left off last season with big wins as a result of the leadership of the Seniors. Co-Captain Tricia Mello led the team as the first singles player, while Co-Captain Vanessa Sanborn, followed closely behind as the second singles player. Every member of the team contributed in some way and made the season a success.

The Panthers' first win of the season came against Plymouth-South, 3-2. The teams were pretty evenly matched, but W-H managed to come out on top. Another win came against Silver Lake, also with a score of 3-2.

The second doubles players, Katie Hopkins, and Kaitlin Donovan, will be back next year to lead the Panthers, along with Lizzie Sanborn who has played for three years. This year's number one doubles players are Katie Jones and Laura Gainey. These Seniors, who led by example, are trying to lay the ground for the players to have an even more successful season next year.

With style, Junior, Kristina Roache, strikes the ball back to her opponent for a point. Job well done for Kristina!

Look at the form on Laura Gainey's forehand; it is a technique that she has mastered, after years of experience on the tennis team.

With her powerful forehand, Kaitlin Donovan hammers the ball over the net.

Senior, Caitlyn Carey, fires the ball back to her opponent for the winning point.

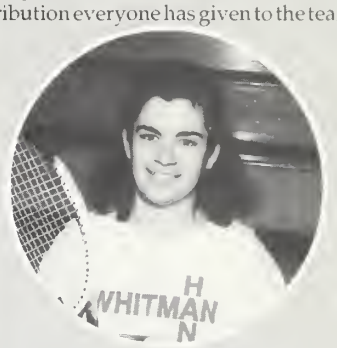
Right: Two up and coming underclassmen, Katie Hopkins and Janine Pare, will be assets to the 2001 Girls Tennis Team.

How do you feel the Tennis Team has come together as a whole this season?

Above: Senior, Captain Patricia Mello: "This year the Girls Tennis Team has put in a lot of time, hard work, and dedication. Whether times were good or bad, the girls came together, worked hard, and came out victorious. I am proud of the progress we have made and the contribution everyone has given to the team."

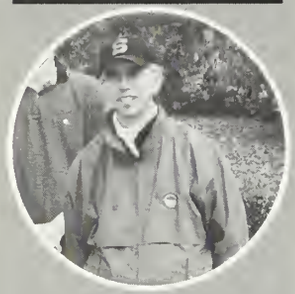


Above: Vanessa Sanborn: "I feel that the Tennis Team has come together as a whole this season because of the great respect that we all have for each other. This respect has helped to not only improve our success off the court, but also on the court. We all had a fun and exciting season, and I wish the rest of our members the best of luck for the next season."

Above: Acting likes it's nothing, Senior Katie Jones uses only a few slight movements to return the ball.

Boys/Girls Golf...

Big Time Players



Coach Robert Belden

"Golf is a sport that really teaches an individual athlete a great deal about character and leadership, because golf requires a certain amount of sportsmanship."

Driving for a Par

The Whitman-Hanson Boys Golf Team had a challenging year. Whitman-Hanson traditionally plays golf teams with more funding and members who have more experience. Other teams have more exposure to golf, due to the fact that they belong to country clubs and play regularly. In addition to the competition, the spring weather brought other challenges to the team such as cold, damp, and rainy weather.

The boys fourteen member team consisted of one senior, seven juniors, five sophomores, and one freshman. Of the fourteen, half of the players returned from last year. At each meet, Whitman-Hanson's team is comprised of six members and three alternates.

The golfers did very well for such a young team. The most outstanding meet Whitman-Hanson played was against Marshfield with a score of 28-26. This was a big win because Marshfield is one of the #1 teams. Next year, with golf being a fall sport instead of a spring sport, the team can expect probably the same difficult competition but weather more conducive to regular play.

What can strengthen the team for next year?

Brian Rowan
Captain

"The team is playing in the fall next year, so I think warmer weather will help improve play."

Timothy Rollins
Captain

"I think weather cooperation and more members can make the team stronger."

Putting for a Win

This year's Girls Golf Team has improved since last year's team. With only seven members on the team, the girls have overcome many obstacles. The weather has been a negative factor, as far as playing ability. The girls team is composed of many younger players, yet they have experience from playing golf in previous years. With five underclassmen on the team, next year the golf team can look forward to a successful year on the green.

With hard work and a lot of determination, the girls have improved their scores and have gained more exposure and experience. The girls have played many difficult teams. "The most memorable meet was the meet against Silver Lake, not because we won, because we didn't, but because it was good competition and they were fun girls to play," says Melissa Howard, Senior.

What can the girls golf team do to recruit more members?

Jennifer Haley
Senior

"Probably by getting the sport more attention and publicity. Either that or bribery!"

Melissa Howard
Senior

"The team can advertise the sport more and that way golf will attract more players."
